THE ANCIENT AND HONORABLE ARTILLERY COMPANY OF MASSACHUSETTS

by

LTC Joseph S. Zareiko

The first white settlers of Massachusetts were faced with the matter of self-protection against the exceedingly treacherous, wild and savage tribes of Indians. Volunteer military companies, called train bands were formed for this purpose and by the fall of 1636, seven such bands had been formed, each under the command of a captain, a lieutenant, and an ensign. In view of the fact that several of the first settlers had been members of the Honourable Artillery Company of London, it was decided to establish such a company in the new colony which should not only be a school for officers for the train bands, but one for officers of any future troops which would be organized. With this purpose in mind, the officers of the voluntary train bands in the seven towns, together with the civic and business leaders of the day, formed a new military association, as a means of training officers. The meetings for instruction in discipline and tactics began in 1637 and a request for a charter of incorporation for the company was submitted to the Governor.

By order of Governor John Winthrop and Council, confirmed by the General Court on 13 March 1638, a charter was granted to the Military Company of the Massachusetts, later to become known as the Ancient and Honourable Artillery Company of Massachusetts. This organization was established along the lines of the Honourable Artillery Company of London, organized and chartered in 1537. The Ancient and Honourable Artillery Company of Massachusetts is the oldest military organization in the Western Hemisphere and the third oldest in the world, preceded only by the Swiss Guard and the Honourable Artillery Company of London. Its history surpasses all other institutions in the New World, except the Christian Church and the Public School, in existence on the American continent when it was chartered.

Since the time of Captain Robert Keayne, the first Captain Commanding, each Commander has accepted the tremendous responsibilities of the high office by maintaining the traditions of the Company and to bring credit to its purpose of existence.

The highlights of the calendar year begin with June Day, which is the first Monday in June. On this day, the Company and invited military delegations parade in Boston, conduct the Drumhead Election of Officers for the coming year, attend Memorial Church Services where the annual Sermon and Ode are delivered and the reading of the Death Roll takes place. A banquet in the evening, attended by National, State, and City dignitaries, concludes the activities.

The Company is represented throughout the year at various civic ceremonies and parades and is always accorded a place of honor and distinction.

The members of the Company have become known as ambassadors without portfolio. This has been brought about by the fact that the Company has a Fall Field Day Tour of Duty which for some time now, has taken the Company to various places in the world, including around the world. Formal exchanges of good will are made with the leaders of the countries visited in respect to strengthening the relationship between the two nations.

The Cradle of Liberty, Faneuil Hall in Boston, is the headquarters of the Company. An Armory, a Military Museum, and Library established in 1878 is maintained and open to the public. A visit to this historical Headquarters causes one to understand the significance of the traditions of the Ancient and Honorable Artillery Company.

The Company has a democratic spirit within the ranks, whereby the high-ranking military man marches shoulder to shoulder with the private, depicting the pinnacle of comradeship. The Company takes justifiable pride in having had four Presidents of the United States as members, namely, James Monroe, Chester Alan Arthur, Calvin Coolidge, and John F. Kennedy. In addition to this honor, four members have been recipients of our nation's highest military decoration, the Medal of Honor.

Every member seems to be compelled by his inner emotions to perpetuate the comradeship which is unparalleled in any other organization. This coveted membership is undoubtedly the most significant, and as its history has written the past so will its history write the future.

THE THREE HUNDRED AND THIRTY-SIXTH ANNUAL RECORD OF THE ANCIENT AND HONORABLE ARTILLERY COMPANY OF MASSACHUSETTS 1973 – 1974

THE YEAR IN HISTORY

The transition of Command, 1973-74, of the Ancient and Honorable Artillery Company of Massachusetts, took place on Boston Common, Monday, 4 June 1973, by the commissioning of Lieutenant Colonel Joseph S. Zareiko, the newly elected Captain Commanding of the Company.

The devaluation of the dollar, plus inflation in most countries in the world, set the stage for Americans, in general, to become apprehensive even to the point of being disgusted with the present and uncertain of the future.

Due to the escalating energy crisis caused by the Arab oil embargo, the country was placed on emergency daylight-saving time, as a step to conserve fuel for heat and light. Gasoline supplies for the motorists became so acute that long lines of cars formed to purchase, in most instances, an allocated number of gallons for each vehicle.

Vice President Spiro Agnew was allegedly involved in some scandalous dealings while an official in Maryland prior to his election to national office. This, in time, led to the resignation of the vice president, the second in the history of the country and the first under such extraordinary circumstances.

Food prices continued to spiral to the consumer and equalled the record set 27 years ago.

Refusing to obey President Nixon's order to fire Archibald Cox, Special Prosecutor in the Watergate affair, Attorney General Elliot Richardson resigned; the Deputy Attorney General, William Ruckelshaus also resigned, refusing to fire Cox; and eventually Solicitor Bork fired Cox and became Acting Attorney General.

Leon Jaworski was appointed the new Special Watergate Prosecutor and he was credited with gaining the support of an 80-member prosecution staff, including 36 lawyers, which originally threatened mass resignation when Mr. Nixon ordered Cox to be fired.

Parts of New Hampshire and Vermont were engulfed by water rising one foot per hour. Damage was so extensive, that the government proclaimed the disaster areas eligible for government aid.

Western Massachusetts was struck with awesome destruction by tornados which left havoc and despair in their wakes.

The Vietnam conflict had been brought to a close, on paper, but realistic warfare still prevailed in the same areas as before. Former United States prisoners of war had been returned — some with happiness — others with uncertainty, brought about by allegations that they had aided the enemy during their imprisonment.

Japan suffered a crippling blow from the fallout of the international economic crisis and her reputation as a model for stability and expansion was seriously impaired. In addition, the historically close relationship between Japanese labor and paternalistic corporations showed grave signs of deterioration.

The stock market continued to be hammered into submission with no rainbow on the horizon. Analysts blamed the energy crisis with its inherent inflation for the collapse, asserting that business observers were fearing that the shortages were not only causing a recession, but possibly depression.

President Nixon became the focal point in allegations made against him. His accusers charged that he was either directly or indirectly involved in the Watergate affair of breaking into the Democratic Party headquarters; the withholding of the secret tapes; the secret bombings of Communist forces in Laos and Cambodia without informing Congress; the Ellsberg break-in; the "Plumbers"; "Dirty Tricks"; the ITT case; the Dairy fund; the Vesco case; the Hughes gift; the corporate gifts and the Nixon homes. The lack of credibility between the President and the people widened dramatically and the question of impeachment of Mr. Nixon became a paramount topic of discussion.

Henry Kissinger became the new Secretary of State and chief advisor to President Nixon.

A holocaust erupted in Chelsea on Sunday, 14 October bringing fire-fighting apparatus not only from all of Greater Boston but from Rhode Island and New Hampshire. The Mystic River bridge, previously damaged by an overloaded truck accident, hampered the passage of emergency vehicles to the fire scene, swept by 40-50 miles per hour winds.

Bicycle riding showed a big upswing across the nation by an increase of 20 million riders in two years, bringing the total number of Americans riding bicycles to 100 million.

Alcoholism was on the upswing with alarming increases among young people. This was attributed, in part, to the fact that liquor was legal and readily available.

The Nobel Committee awarded the coveted peace prize to Dr. Henry Kissinger, U.S. Secretary of State, and Le Duc Tho, a powerful member of the Hanoi Politburo, both to share the prestigious award.

Another military coup in Greece toppled the regime of President George Papadopoulos in a bloodless uprising and Phaedon Gizikis became the new President of Greece.

The Middle East erupted into a major fighting war, with a do or die for Israel against the Arab world. The United Nations concentrated on neutralizing the war to no avail, while the United States appeared, by reports, to support Israel by providing supplies and a small force of Marines strategically positioned in close proximity to the areas involved. In time, Russia announced that troops would be sent into the area but this plan was thwarted when the United States readied its troops in force for retaliatory intervention. The Russians canceled their plan and the UN positioned its force to maintain a buffer between Israel and the Arab countries.

Logan airport was the scene of three airplane accidents. A DC 9 crash killed all 88 on board except one survivor and he, too, died after 134 days of hospitalization. A Pan Am 707 cargo plane crashed, killing its three-member crew and an Iberia jet crashed, injuring 16 passengers.

After a short spell of moderation, television programs turned again to violence — grimmer, more shocking, bloodier than ever. The reaction from Congress, critics and viewers was one of serious concern for it was believed that TV violence instigated subsequent criminal behavior.

The ambitious $2.6 billion Skylab program was concluded when the third and last team landed the command module in the Pacific. This final voyage set records that should last for years. Astronauts Gerald Carr, William Pogue, and Edward Gibson traveled 34½ million miles in their 1,214 revolutions around the earth, made four space walks and watched the sun rise and set more than 1,300 times. The Apollo ferry ship carried 900 pounds of scientific experiments. Thousands of pictures of the earth, sun, and that elusive visitor to the solar system, the comet Kohoutek were recorded. Magnetic tapes holding scientific data about the earth alone stretched for 19 miles.

Pioneer 10, the U.S. probe to Jupiter, emerged unscathed from the 175 million mile wide asteroid belt between Mars and Jupiter after traveling through it for seven months. It survived the planet's intense radiation, transmitting color pictures and scientific data to the earth. The unmanned spacecraft traveled 620 million miles and came to within 81,000 miles of the planet's orange-gray clouds.

In contrast to the rest of the world, the United States seemed at last to have broken the back of its epidemic airline hijackings by imposing tight search and security rules for boarding passengers.

Beaver II, the 18th Century brigantine facsimile, after unforeseen problems of fire, replenishing radio parts, hurricane and crew replacements, finally sailed across the Atlantic, with the assist of motor power, and docked at its berth at the Congress Street bridge on Fort Point channel, Boston. The 200th anniversary of the Boston Tea Party was reenacted with exceptions: Indian disguises were not worn because they might offend contemporary Indians; only chests were thrown into the harbor because of pollution; the ceremony took place in the afternoon and not at night; and the acrobats in the rigging would have, undoubtedly, astonished Captain Hezekiah Coffin of the original Beaver brigantine.

To compensate for the decline of manpower in the U.S. Armed Forces since the draft no longer was in effect, the services initiated programs for improved and sophisticated weapons so that the United States would have the most technologically advanced, heavily armed and mobile combat force in the world, man for man, in the 1980s.

In general, it was a cataclysmatic year, of apprehension, of dismay, and of concern. The attitudes of people had changed, their way of life altered, and their outlook toward the future tempered by unprecedented conservatism. The ever-present determination to ride out the storm, however, was slowly edging its way to the forefront and in spite of the acceptance that recent changes have drastically modified the heretofore normal way of life, America will continue to remain the greatest country in the world.

The traditional June Day parade from Faneuil Hall passed by the old State House to the new State House, to the Cathedral Church of St. Paul where the annual religious memorial services were held. The Company then proceeded to the Boston Common, where the traditional Drumhead Election took place in the presence of a large contingent of our own members, an unusually large number of visiting delegations from the units of the Centennial Legion of Historic Military Commands, and the entire Cadet Corps and Band of The Massachusetts Military Academy.

COMMISSIONING THE NEW OFFICERS
1973-74

ADDRESSING THE LIEUTENANT GOVERNOR
THE ADJUTANT SAID

Your Excellency, I have the pleasure to announce the results of the Three Hundred and Thirty-Sixth Drumhead Election:

For Captain, Lieutenant Colonel Joseph S. Zareiko of Dover.
For First Lieutenant, Colonel Ernest J. Montilio of Quincy.
For Second Lieutenant, Lieutenant Robert D. Murphy of Milton.

Captain Lamphier is now ready to surrender his commission to you, sir, at your wish.

REPLY OF LIEUTENANT GOVERNOR DWIGHT

For the benefit of the Company, if there is any doubt, I am amazed at the speed with which the results were computed and printed.

General, I am prepared to receive the resignation of Captain Commanding Lamphier.

REMARKS OF CAPTAIN LAMPHIER ON RESIGNING HIS COMMISSION

Governor, I hereby resign my commission as Captain Commanding of the Ancient and Honorable Artillery Company. It has been a privilege and an honor for me to serve you and the Commonwealth of Massachusetts.

(Hands halberd to the Governor)
(Gorget unclasped by Adjutant General Vartanian)

REPLY OF LIEUTENANT GOVERNOR DWIGHT

Captain Lamphier, in accepting your badge of office, the gorget, I commend you on your year of service to the Commonwealth. The Company, which is the oldest chartered military organization in the Western Hemisphere, has grown and prospered under your leadership. You have performed well and I congratulate you. You may retire now.

REMARKS OF LIEUTENANT GOVERNOR DWIGHT
ON COMMISSIONING
CAPTAIN-ELECT JOSEPH S. ZAREIKO

Colonel Zareiko, I have the honor to invest you as Captain Commanding of the Ancient and Honorable Artillery Company of Massachusetts.

The proud tradition that Captain Commanding Lamphier has so well maintained now rests in your hands. I have full confidence that you will acquit your duties with dignity and that the Company will continue to prosper.

(Receives halberd from the Governor)
(Gorget clasped about neck by the Adjutant General)

REPLY OF CAPTAIN ZAREIKO

It is with sincerity that I proudly accept the responsibilities of Captain Commanding of the Ancient and Honorable Artillery Company of Massachusetts. Thank you, Governor.

REMARKS OF FIRST LIEUTENANT MARR ON
RESIGNING HIS COMMISSION

Lieutenant Governor, I present my resignation as First Lieutenant of the Ancient and Honorable Artillery Company. It is a grand Company and it has been a great privilege for me to serve. My term is at an end; I submit my resignation.

(Hands halberd to the Adjutant General)

REPLY OF LIEUTENANT GOVERNOR DWIGHT

Lieutenant Marr, in accepting your resignation, as you climb down the scaffold and return to the troops, I congratulate you for your service and look forward to meeting you again, if the fortunes of the election process are kind to you in the future. Carry on, sir.

REMARKS OF LIEUTENANT GOVERNOR DWIGHT
ON COMMISSIONING
FIRST LIEUTENANT-ELECT ERNEST J. MONTILIO

Lieutenant Montilio, it is my pleasure to present to you this halberd, your symbol of office. As you assume the duties of First Lieutenant in this Ancient and Honorable Company, may this halberd be the icing upon your cake, sir.

(Receives halberd from the Governor)

REPLY OF FIRST LIEUTENANT MONTILIO

Thank you. It is a great honor. I will serve this Company well.

REMARKS OF SECOND LIEUTENANT CREMENS ON
RESIGNING HIS COMMISSION

Lieutenant Governor Dwight, at this, the end of my term, I resign my commission. I wish to inform you that it has been a great honor and a distinct pleasure to serve as Second Lieutenant of the Ancient and Honorable Artillery Company.

(Hands halberd to the Adjutant General)

REPLY OF LIEUTENANT GOVERNOR DWIGHT

Lieutenant Cremens, your resignation as Second Lieutenant of this Company is accepted, but I do look forward in the future again to the day when another election — and you have been through elections before — may see your return to this parade ground. I wish you well and thank you for your service.

REMARKS OF LIEUTENANT GOVERNOR DWIGHT
ON COMMISSIONING
SECOND LIEUTENANT-ELECT ROBERT D. MURPHY

Lieutenant Murphy, I welcome you to officership in the Ancient and Honorable Artillery Company of Massachusetts. It has been a long road; the road ahead has some years to go. I know, as you start this leadership position, that you will acquit yourself with the dignity and the honor that your predecessor in office has shown. Congratulations, Lieutenant. I have the honor to invest you with the halberd which is your badge of office. Good luck, sir.

(Receives halberd from the Governor)

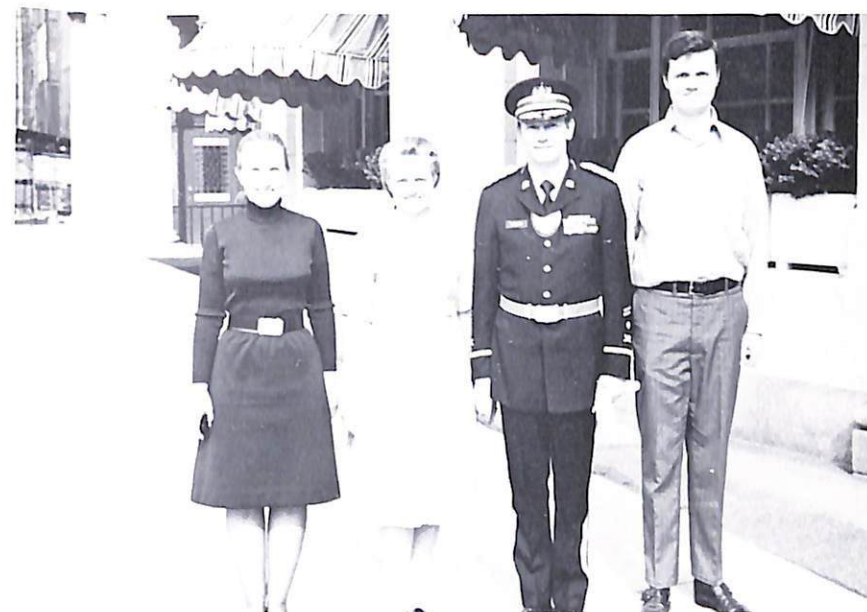

REPLY OF SECOND LIEUTENANT MURPHY

Thank you. To the Governor and to the Commonwealth, I am proud to accept my commission. Thank you, Your Excellency.

(The Commissioning of the new officers was thereupon concluded)

CHANNEL 2-WGBH-TV AUCTION

6 June 1973

The Captain Commanding, through the courtesy of Mr. Frederick F. Moynihan, Chairman of the Board, Stowell's Jewelers, Boston, donated a handcrafted Damascene plate commemorating the 150th anniversary of the incorporation of the City of Boston to the TV Auction to raise funds for Channel 2. The plate was the 137th in a limited edition of 200 and a corresponding certificate accompanied the collector's item.

It was interesting to note that the plate featured Faneuil Hall, known to all as the Cradle of Liberty and Headquarters of our organization.

THE MASSACHUSETTS MILITARY ACADEMY PARADE AND REVIEW

28 June 1973

On Thursday, 28 June 1973, the Cadet Corps of The Massachusetts Military Academy conducted a Review in honor of the Captain Commanding, LTC Joseph S. Zareiko, at Camp Curtis Guild, Massachusetts Army Reserve National Guard Training Center, Reading, Massachusetts.

At 1500, a social hour was held under a tent, especially constructed for the occasion.

The Review took place at 1630 during which rain clouds were intermittently broken by the sun, which added to the splendor of the Review. Almost as if it was a planned climax, an extremely fine and soft drizzle fell as the Cadets paraded off the grounds.

INDEPENDENCE DAY PARADE

4 July 1973

Under threatening skies of rain, the traditional Fourth of July exercises started with the flag raising ceremonies at City Hall Plaza at 0900. Our Company was represented by forty-four members including the Colors. The Captain Commanding, honorary Chief Marshal, and Commissioner A. Reginald Eaves placed the wreaths at the graves of John Hancock, Samuel Adams, Robert Treat Paine, and Peter Faneuil, signers of the Declaration of Independence and the donor of Faneuil Hall.

The parade of march proceeded to the Old State House and formed a hollow square. Margarita Muriel, Jamaica Plain High School, read the Declaration to a vast number of onlookers who had gathered for this annual exercise.

TESTIMONIAL TO BG (CHAPLAIN) LAURENCE M. BROCK

9 July 1973

To commemorate the Fiftieth Anniversary as a member of the Jesuit Order, approximately 500 friends of Father Laurence M. Brock, S.J., met on 9 July 1973 at the Copley Plaza Hotel to have dinner and render tributes to an outstanding man.

A large delegation of Ancients was in attendance. Lt John S. Nolan was Chairman, BG I. Jerome O'Connor, PC, Treasurer and the Captain Commanding, LTC Joseph S. Zareiko, Honorary Chairman.

The affair was a satisfying success and a fine tribute to a most deserving Chaplain of our Company.

COAST GUARD ACADEMY FOUNDATION MEETING

25 July 1973

An invitation to attend the meeting of the Coast Guard Academy Foundation to be followed by a reception to honor retiring RADM Robert Goehring and to meet the new District Commander, RADM Helmer Pearson, was accepted with pleasure by LTC Joseph S. Zareiko, Captain Commanding and LT George E. Peznola, Adjutant. The purpose of the meeting was to establish a plan of creating corporate and individual interest in supporting the Coast Guard Academy, financially.

These sought-after funds would enable the Academy to provide needed items which are not ordinarily provided for by the regulating governmental agency, the Department of Transportation. We were proud, but on the other hand disappointed, that the Ancient and Honorable Artillery Company of Massachusetts was the only military organization represented at this very worth-while effort on the part of the Academy Foundation.

FIRST COAST GUARD DISTRICT CHANGE OF COMMAND AND RETIREMENT CEREMONY

27 July 1973

The Captain Commanding and Mrs. Joseph S. Zareiko, and the Adjutant, LT George E. Peznola, accepted the kind invitation to represent the Company at the First Coast Guard Change of Command and Retirement Ceremony, Coast Guard Base, Boston on 27 July 1973 at 1500.

Before reporting on this impressive ceremony, it must be stated that due to a most unusual torrential rain, about an hour prior to the commencement of the exercises, the spirit of the occasion sank to its lowest ebb. Fortunately, the skies cleared as if by magic at the designated hour except for one incident. LT and Mrs. Peznola were en route to the ceremony via automobile and approximately at 1445 had been stopped in the South Station tunnel because of a prior accident near the exit. His determination to fulfill his commitment to attend the ceremony, caused him to leave his wife in the car while he ran through the tunnel, in his Ancient's uniform, hailed a taxi on a side street and arrived at the scene on time. This is a true example of sheer determination. Mrs. Peznola should be commended for her part in this function, particularly since she did not emerge from the tunnel until after the conclusion of the ceremonies.

The program involving the change of command included music by the United States Navy Band, Remarks and Reading of Orders by RADM Robert W. Goehring, USCG and RADM Helmer S. Pearson, USCG and the customary changing of the Admirals' flags.

The reception provided an opportunity for the Captain and the Adjutant to answer a number of inquiries by some of those in attendance regarding the Ancient and Honorable Artillery Company, caused apparently by the fact that our uniforms were in direct contrast to the white uniforms of the Coast Guard. Two other Ancients were in attendance, namely, COL James A. Lamphier, PC and CDR Thomas L. O'Hara, Jr., in his official capacity as a member of the Coast Guard Reserve.

VISIT OF THE ANCIENT AND HONORABLE ARTILLERY COMPANY TO THE 26TH INFANTRY DIVISION CAMP PICKETT, VIRGINIA

2 August 1973

At the invitation of The Adjutant General, MG Vahan Vartanian, and Commanding General of the 26th (Yankee) Infantry Division, BG Nicholas Del Torto, the Ancient and Honorable Artillery Company was represented by the Captain Commanding, LTC Joseph S. Zareiko, and Second Lieutenant Robert D. Murphy to visit the 26th (Yankee) Infantry Division undergoing their annual training at Camp Pickett and Camp A.P. Hill, Virginia.

This was the first time since 1951 that the units of the 26th have not trained at Camp Drum, New York. It was interesting to note that approximately 40% of the personnel traveled by government vehicles with the remaining 60% transported by commercial bus. Because of the time consumed in travel, many of the usual schedules had to be canceled, one of which was the Division Parade and Review. The distance also precluded the usual attendance of a large delegation of Ancients participating due to the fact that only a designated number of seats were available for the flight on board a T29 aircraft from Hanscom Field to Richmond, Virginia.

LTC Joseph J. Saladino, Project Officer, coordinated the itinerary superbly and in fact provided many answers to our seemingly endless curiosity as to how, where, why, and when.

Upon arrival, the weather canceled out the visit to A.P. Hill so that the visiting party, including Lieutenant Governor Donald R. Dwight, spent the entire day visiting Camp Pickett, being transported by Huey (UH-1) helicopters, jeeps, staff cars, and the most known carrier of the Army, our own feet. The hospitality of everyone involved during the visit was one of true comradeship. The experience of this visit will long be remembered by the Captain and Second Lieutenant.

During the visit to the 1st Battalion, 102 Artillery, commanded by LTC Donald P. Eriksen, a fellow Ancient and Sergeant Major A&HAC (1973-74), the Captain Commanding requested and received a superb account of the visit. Colonel Eriksen's report of the visit reads as follows:

Massachusetts Lieutenant Governor Donald R. Dwight; MG Vahan Vartanian, The Adjutant General of Massachusetts; MG Otis M. Whitney (Retired), Past Commander of the 26th (Yankee) Infantry Division; BG Nicholas Del Torto, Commanding General of the 26th (Yankee) Infantry Division; LTC Joseph S. Zareiko, Captain Commanding of the Ancient and Honorable Artillery Company of Massachusetts and party, arrived by Huey helicopters at 1430, 2 August 1973 in Field Training Area "F" Grid 36599843, Camp Pickett, Virginia to observe training activities of the First Battalion 102 Field Artillery (Second Corps Cadets) of Salem, Massachusetts, LTC Donald P. Eriksen, Commanding.

A briefing of the overall operation of the Field Artillery Battalion was given to the party by LTC Eriksen. The group was then escorted to "C" Battery, 1LT Michael A. Sandman, Cambridge, Mass., Commanding. The Battery then demonstrated by live fire, a Battery Right By Piece, firing two rounds. Lieutenant Governor Dwight was escorted to piece number one, the Captain Commanding, to piece number two by Major James A. Bailey of Salem, Mass., the Battalion Executive Officer. BG Del Torto was escorted to piece number three. The Captain Commanding was then introduced to the Chief of Firing Battery, SGT C. David Collette of Danvers, Mass. and a brief explanation of the howitzer and the method of firing. The firing Battery then repeated the previous fire mission with the Captain Commanding becoming the Assistant Gunner and actually pulling the lanyard to fire the piece number two, opening the breech, expelling the round, reloading, and firing a second time. Second Lieutenant Murphy also accomplishing the same on piece number four of which SGT Charles Gamble of Essex, Mass., was the Section Chief.

The groups then got into their jeeps, were briefed on the operation of the radios and communications in general by LTC Eriksen and proceeded to "A" Battery, commanded by CPT David B. Sanfason of Lowell, Mass. The groups were briefed by CPT Sanfason on the Battery Mission. Lieutenant Governor Dwight was then escorted by the Battalion Command Sergeant Major John F. Flynn of Ipswich, Mass., to piece number four where he was introduced to the Chief of Section, SGT Robert F. Mason of Lexington, Mass., and the rest of the section, Robert Bouffard, David MacGregor, Arthur Gorfinkle, Richard Field, and Timothy Clifford.

The Captain Commanding was escorted by the Battalion Commander, LTC Eriksen to piece number three and was introduced to the Chief of Section, SGT John M. Lawler of Lynn, Mass., and the rest of the men in the section, Theodore Patrikas, John O'Neil, Michael Miranda, Jean Paradis, and Robert Aufferio.

SGT Lawler showed the Captain how to sight through the Panoramic Telescope to check the proper positioning of the howitzer, and how to make all the necessary adjustments for deflection and elevation.

The Battery then demonstrated by live fire, a Battery Two Rounds. After the demonstration, the party got into their jeeps and drove to the helicopter pickup area, boarded their respective helicopters at 1500 and left for their next destination.

At 1730 that evening, all of the organization commanders were invited to a gala reception honoring the Lieutenant Governor. The food, drink, and comradery were outstanding. While dining, we were entertained by the 26th (Yankee) Infantry Division Band led by Warrant Officer Shea.

A picture was taken of all the Ancients during the visit prior to departure from Camp Pickett and the picture, in summation, is proof positive that this was a truly pleasurable affair to be added to the bank of our memories.

The following Ancients participated in the visit:

ANNUAL FALL SHOOT CAMP CURTIS GUILD

16 September 1973

LT FRANK J. D'ARRIGO, Ordnance Officer

Ideal weather conditions and the unparalleled goals set by the Ordnance Officer, LT Frank J. D'Arrigo, set a new standard of excellence for the Annual Fall Shoot, Camp Curtis Guild on Sunday, 16 September.

Traditional coffee, doughnuts, and cheese were a welcome break during the highly competitive firing of both rifle and pistol. Separate church services were held at noontime by Father (BG) Laurence M. Brock, S.J. and Chaplain (COL) Frank J. Bauer.

After completion of the firing on the ranges, cocktails were served as an appetizer to a hearty beef stew lunch followed by apple pie and coffee.

When the hour arrived for the awards to be made, the participants experienced an awe-inspiring spectacle. LT D'Arrigo had fulfilled his pledge to provide every participant a souvenir of the occasion, one which would be a constant reminder of the finest Fall Shoot in the history of the Company.

LT Frank J. D'Arrigo, Ordnance Officer, being congratulated by the Captain at the Fall Shoot, Camp Curtis Guild, 16 September 1973.

The Captain Commanding presented a special trophy, suitably inscribed, to BG Lawrence F. Carew for his assistance in coordinating the details of the shoot.

In addition to the magnificent trophies, appropriate medals were awarded to the Ancients who qualified as Expert, Sharpshooter, or Marksman in both rifle and pistol.

A genuine expression of thanks was expressed by LTC Zareiko, Captain Commanding, and LT D'Arrigo, Ordnance Officer to all who had supported this shoot by donations or assistance.

COL Paul A. McGowan and his officer and enlisted staff provided the vital expertise which was the key to the success of this shoot. Their presence and invaluable contribution will never be forgotten.

336th FALL FIELD DAY TOUR OF DUTY REPORT

28 September — 7 October 1973

An unanticipated malfunctioning air-conditioning system on our Pan Am charter plane caused a delay in our scheduled Logan departure from Friday at 2245 to Saturday at 0300. During this time, the participants were brought to the Logan Hilton Inn for refreshments. The consensus of opinion was that it was better to be safe than sorry and with this attitude, even though the time was long, the morale of all concerned proved that this trip was going to be an outstanding success.

Once aboard the aircraft, the Ancients became their usual selves. Pan Am's expected willingness to do all possible for our Company became immediately evident. An abundance of liquid good cheer, a filet mignon dinner with all the gourmet expectations, stereo sound and two first-run movies, "Touch of Class" and "Oklahoma Crude", were shown.

The flight was very smooth across the Atlantic. Upon arrival at Fuhlsbüttel Airport, Hamburg, the Company was formed for a brief but satisfying reception by American Consul General Brogan; Consul May; Doctor Dörmer, Members of the Senate, Garrison Command, and U.S. Consulate greet the Captain and Ancients upon arrival at Fuhlsbüttel Airport, on their 336th FFDTD.

Protocol Section City Hall; Mr. Christiansen, his assistant; and the anchor man for our Company in Germany, Colonel von Schack.

Our Company received complete freedom of the port. The entire Company, including the Captain and his Staff, was transported by special motor-coaches directly to the Inter-Continental Hotel. The luggage was delivered to the respective rooms and after a surprise cocktail party sponsored by the Adjutant, all enjoyed a leisurely dinner at the beautiful Fontenay Grill on the top of the hotel with a beautiful panoramic view of Hamburg and the Alster Lakes.

After dinner, the members were invited to the Captain's Presidential Suite where informality prevailed and comradeship reigned. The Captain presented each participant of the 336th FFDTD a Paul Revere pewter tankard, suitably inscribed, as a lasting memento which would serve as a catalyst to bring back many pleasant memories of the visit to Hamburg and the surrounding areas in Germany. Later, the men pursued their own exploration of Hamburg.

On Sunday, there was a morning city tour highlighted by a cruise through Germany's largest harbor. The marvels of German ingenuity were self-evident, particularly since Hamburg harbor is 70 miles inland on the Elbe River. After lunch, we had two Ecumenical Services. One was held at the Chapel of Sophie Barat Schule where 600 students attend. Father McCabe, replacing Father Brock who was unable to accompany us on our trip, said Mass, Chaplain Bauer delivered the sermon, and the Captain delivered the lesson. The other Ecumenical Service took place at St. Michael's where Chaplain Bauer officiated, Father McCabe and the Captain delivered the lessons. St. Michael's Church is Hamburg's landmark, one of the most important baroque churches in Northern Germany, has the second-largest organ in the world and provides a unique panoramic view of the city and port from its 433-foot steeple. The contrasts of the two churches will remain unforgettable; the former for its outstanding simplicity, the latter for its structural magnificence and splendor. The Captain's cocktail party for all participants was held at the Presidential Suite prior to dinner, after which, most of the men seemed to disappear into the night.

On Monday morning, the Company assembled in front of the hotel. At precisely 1000 and as though with custom-tailored marching weather for the Ancients, the parade started with the Hamburg Police as our escort. As we approached the American Consulate building, the Musikkorps der Schutzpolizei Hamburg, consisting of 48 professional musicians, accentuated the cadence of the troops to an unprecedented high. The Company rendered its salute to the American Consul General with his entire Consulate Staff viewing the parade from the sidewalk, balconies, and porches. The Company then proceeded by motorcoaches to the rear of the Rathaus, where once again, the Company formed and stepped off to the march music of the Musikkorps der Schutzpolizei Hamburg and paraded around the Rathaus, coming to a halt in front of the main entrance. An official visit, consisting of the Captain, First Lieutenant, Second Lieutenant, Adjutant, and Aide to the Captain, was made and in behalf of the Company, Bürgermeister Peter Schulz was presented a sterling silver Paul Revere bowl, suitably inscribed, to commemorate this unusual occasion. This was the first time in the history of Hamburg that a military delegation of any type entered the Rathaus in peace or war. A most cordial reception was experienced during which the Bürgermeister viewed the Ancients from the balcony and remarked that it was seldom seen that troops would remain in precise formation for such a period of time.

Bürgermeister Schulz presented a plaque to the Captain, showing the insignia of the Free and Hanseatic City of Hamburg. In addition, each member of the A&HAC delegation received a signed book of Hamburg, as a personal gift from the Bürgermeister.

The delegation then returned to the Company and resumed the parade to the tunes of the Musikkorps der Schutzpolizei Hamburg which honored us by the many American marches played for our enjoyment around the Rathaus to our motorcoaches which took us to the Memorial Cemetery in Ohlsdorf. A melancholy wreath-laying ceremony was executed by the Company in formation with the American Consul General participating. Here, again, contrasts prevailed; the solemn simplicity of the occasion and the unexplainable reasons why it all happened and its resultant futility. The taps, sounded by two members of the Musikkorps der Schutzpolizei Hamburg, moved everyone to indescribable solemnity involving not only the body but the soul.

(The Captain's remarks at the wreath-laying ceremony:)

It is with a bottomless sadness in our hearts that we pay our respects to those whose lives have ebbed and have left a void never to be replaced.

Their passing is our sorrow. Their serenity of peace is a lasting memorial which compels us to offer our hearts in sorrowful remembrance. Deep down within the confines of our inner selves, we stand in solitude in the quiet of the hour, awed by the melancholy we feel for them.

Let the woe and grief we bear in our souls for those in eternal rest be likened to an echo that fades and the vision that ceases, for what is life unless we realize that all of us, one day, shall join them in their endless sleep of peace.

Wreath-laying ceremony at the Memorial Cemetery, Ohlsdorf, 1 October 1973.

In the evening, a formal banquet at the hotel, preceded by a cocktail hour, provided every participant the opportunity of experiencing an unforgettable evening of understanding and appreciation of true friendship with the invited dignitaries and guests. The military atmosphere was highlighted by the 6 flags artistically displayed as a background for the head table, the music provided by the Musikkorps der Schutzpolizei Hamburg, and last but by no means least, the most welcomed place setting of the German, American, and A&HAC flags, mounted on a stand, a gift to all in attendance from the Sergeants. Not only did the men display their courtesy by not leaving during the banquet, but it is quite proper to report that even after the banquet was officially concluded, the magnetism of the band was so captivating that the men remained at their seats as though to show their gratitude for the wonderful music provided. All present were extended an invitation to join the Captain at his Presidential Suite for a nightcap.

On Tuesday, the Company departed to Bremen for an all-day tour. The enthusiasm of the participants was noted when the expected number of men on the tour exceeded the maximum in spite of the fact that extra seats had been made available. As a result, there was a shortage of seats for three men. The Captain decided that the three left out would be himself, his Aide, and the travel agent. The three took the train to Bremen and met the Company for lunch at the 568-year old Gothic cellar in the city hall. The greeting received by the Captain upon his entry into the Ratskeller was one of spontaneous exhilaration and the standing ovation brought a misty film of lachrymal fluid to the eyes of the Captain — an unforgettable memory.

Upon returning to Hamburg, the Sergeants hosted a special cocktail hour for the Ancients, prior to transporting them by a fleet of taxis to the Zillertal for the Sergeants' Party. An elaborate buffet dinner was served with an abundance of beer and all keyed in the best traditions of the German beer hall atmosphere through its brass band of skilled musicians. The creativity of the Sergeants made possible for many members of the Company to be the bandmaster with the baton, and the Captain was accorded this honor to start the festivities. The Sergeants' Party was an unusual and enjoyable contribution to the participating members of the 336th FFDTD.

On Wednesday, there was an all-day excursion to Mölln where the Company was greeted in the old-time, colorful tradition. At the Eulenspiegel Statue, the President of the county and the Mayor of Mölln welcomed the Ancients. The members photographically inclined were constantly bewildered due to the many sights which begged for recording on film. All seemed so picturesque, quaint, inviting, and desirable to bring back as proof of the places visited that film had to be replaced locally.

Our visit to the Iron Curtain at Rosenhagen-Mustin was escorted by the ranking major of the West German Border Guard and his staff. This was a shocking experience; one to remain with us for a long time. One cannot visualize the significance of this inhuman situation unless one is able to see the actual separation of man against man by means of the most bizarre and devious methods known to those enforcing the separation. Around noon, Colonel and Mrs. von Schack hosted a cocktail party at their 1000-acre farm in Bresahn on the border of East Germany. It was an experience to visit the Colonel's home and to be accepted in such a warm, friendly manner by families of nobility whose history dates back to the 1100s. Lunch was enjoyed at the exclusive Seehof Restaurant in Ratzeburg. It was interesting to note that the colors of the three flowers in the vase on each table consisted of one red, one white, and one blue, the colors of our American flag. Things like this just did not happen. They were planned in advance by Colonel von Schack, executed with pride, and accepted with appreciation. A surprise presentation was made to the Captain by Colonel von Schack, Deputy Commander, Garrison Command, Hamburg, of a plaque showing the insignia of Standortkommando, Hamburg.

German Army Major, Border Patrol, with the Captain in front of the East-West zonal demarcation line (Iron Curtain) at Rosenhagen-Mustin, 3 October 1973.

After a visit to picturesque Lübeck, founded in 1143, the motorcoaches continued to Travemünde where, after a brief but enjoyable refreshment period at the most exclusive hotel, one motorcoach returned to Hamburg while the other motorcoach was retained to bring back those Ancients who had expressed their interest in visiting the gambling casino.

On Thursday, the Company witnessed a most unusual series of events. Our motorcoaches en route to the NATO training proving grounds were met by a German military escort. The German military authorities welcomed the Ancients with a military band which entertained us with many renditions and, in particular, a specially prepared rendition of "The Caissons Go Rolling Along." Coffee and cake were served followed by a briefing by Generalmajor Horst Ohrloff. A sterling silver Paul Revere bowl was presented to Generalmajor Ohrloff by the Captain in behalf of the Company and, in return, the insignia of the 3rd Panzerdivision was presented to the Captain by Generalmajor Ohrloff commemorating the A&HAC visit to Bergen-Hohne.

This was followed by what may best be described as a fashion show of tanks and allied equipment, all explained through a public address system so that all present were constantly being briefed as to what was taking place. The capabilities of the equipment displayed were not only fascinating but amazing. Following this introduction, the Company was motored to the tank battle site which was especially arranged for the exclusive viewing by the Ancients. A special reviewing stand had been built for the occasion and the actual battle, with live ammunition, was conducted with constant briefing as to the reasons and manner of execution. Our unending gratitude to Colonel Johann Condne and his 8th Panzerbrigade for its spectacular performance. In the opinion of the Captain and all Ancients present, this demonstration was, without doubt, not only the most spectacular piece of showmanship ever witnessed by the members of the Company but the most impressive and the most appreciated. Every Ancient was at a loss for words to express his gratitude for the privilege and honor accorded to him and to the Company by the German military for this dramatic demonstration of the 8th Panzerbrigade's capabilities.

A German Army field lunch followed which included a hot dish of German-type stew, a far cry from the U.S. Army C and K rations that some of us remember with reluctance, beer as much as one could desire, and toasts to one another with an endless supply of schnapps. No one will ever forget this experience.

We then motored to Lüneburg where Lord Mayor Alfred Trebchen greeted the Company and presented the Captain and Officers a small sack of salt, the symbolic gift of the city as the prime salt source to the world, in early times. Following this gracious reception, a sightseeing tour was made of the strikingly beautiful city. Some of the old buildings and streets had sagged due to the mining of salt with forced water hundreds of years ago. We were informed that the natural salt was dissolved by water and removed as a solution, thereby leaving cavities in the earth, resulting in the shifting of the surface.

The Company motored to the Schlieffen Barracks where the Company relaxed at the Officers' Club at a cocktail party, and then enjoyed the hospitality of the 8th Panzerbrigade at dinner. Two huge flags, German and American, were artistically displayed for this occasion. Colonel Johann Condne was presented a sterling silver Paul Revere bowl as a token of our appreciation as well as pewter tankard presentations to his staff for their most unusual efforts in our behalf. A sculptured plaque of the German Leopard tank was presented to the Captain by Colonel Condne, Commander, 8th Panzerbrigade, which will always renew an unforgettable experience.

After returning to the hotel, the Captain extended an invitation to all to join him for cocktails at the Presidential Suite and thus provide the members the opportunity to relive the excitement of a most unusual and unbelievable day.

Friday and Saturday were specifically planned as days of leisure so that the men could have time to pursue their interests without any inconvenience of schedule. However, on Friday, the Sergeants had another cocktail party followed by an invitation extended by the detachment of the U.S. Marine Corps on duty at the Consulate to attend a buffet and open bar for the Ancients. The members responded enthusiastically and contributed to the Marine Corps Annual Ball Fund.

On Saturday, the Adjutant graciously extended another invitation to all for a final farewell cocktail party prior to departure on the following morning. This was the last day to enjoy the scenic beauty of this part of Europe, the architectural masterpieces, its culture, and renowned hospitality.

On Sunday, Ecumenical Services were held at the same simple but elegant chapel, within walking distance of the hotel, as on the previous Sunday and in an orderly, systematic manner, the members of the 336th FFDTD, saddened by the fact that the excitement was slowly coming to an end, packed their luggage, boarded the motorcoaches for the airport and onto the aircraft. As a final gesture of friendship and appreciation, American Consul Berry, Consul May, Doctor Dörmer of the Rathaus, Colonel and Mrs. von Schack with their daughter, boarded the plane for a last farewell to the Ancients and wished all on board a pleasant trip home.

Our many firsts did not end here. Somewhere over the Atlantic, the First Sergeant, in behalf of all the participants of the trip, presented the Captain with a beautiful, handcrafted, artistically decorated, Dresden porcelain chime clock, with a statement that the men were deeply appreciative of all that was done for them on the 336th FFDTD. A card signed by all accompanied the presentation. The Captain was completely surprised and visibly shaken by this unheard-of gesture. Obviously, he was overwhelmed — his genuine gratitude flowed from his inner self. It was also evident that over the years, on every half hour and every hour, when the chimes are heard in the Captain's home, this presentation will rekindle one of the happiest moments of his life.

336th FALL FIELD DAY TOUR OF DUTY BANQUET BALLSAAL, HOTEL INTER-CONTINENTAL HAMBURG, WEST GERMANY

1 October 1973

CAPTAIN COMMANDING, LTC JOSEPH S. ZAREIKO, Presiding

At 1930, cocktails and hors d'oeuvres were served in the Ballsaal Foyer which provided a perfect setting for meeting old and new friends prior to the formal dinner in the Ballsaal. This was an opportunity for all to relax after a taxing day of two exciting parades and a solemn wreath-laying ceremony. As the dinner hour drew near, excitement prevailed, once again.

Dinner was served at 1030.

LTC ZAREIKO:

Gentlemen, welcome to the 336th Fall Field Day Tour of Duty Banquet. Please rise for the Invocation by our Protestant Chaplain, Colonel Frank J. Bauer.

COLONEL BAUER:

Im namen des Vaters, des Sohnes und des Heiligen Geistes. Unsere augen warten auf dich, Herr. Du gibst ihnen ihre speise zur rechten zeit. Du tust Deine hand auf und sättigst alles, was lebt, nach deinem wohlgefallen. Komm, Herr Jesus, sei unser Gast und segne, was Du uns bescheret hast. Amen.

In the name of the Father, of the Son, and of the Holy Ghost. The eyes of all wait upon Thy Lord and give us then the meal in due season and open Thy hand and satisfy the desires for every living thing. Come, Lord Jesus, be our Guest and let Thy gifts to us be blessed. Amen.

Gesegnete mahlzeit.

LTC ZAREIKO:

Please remain standing.

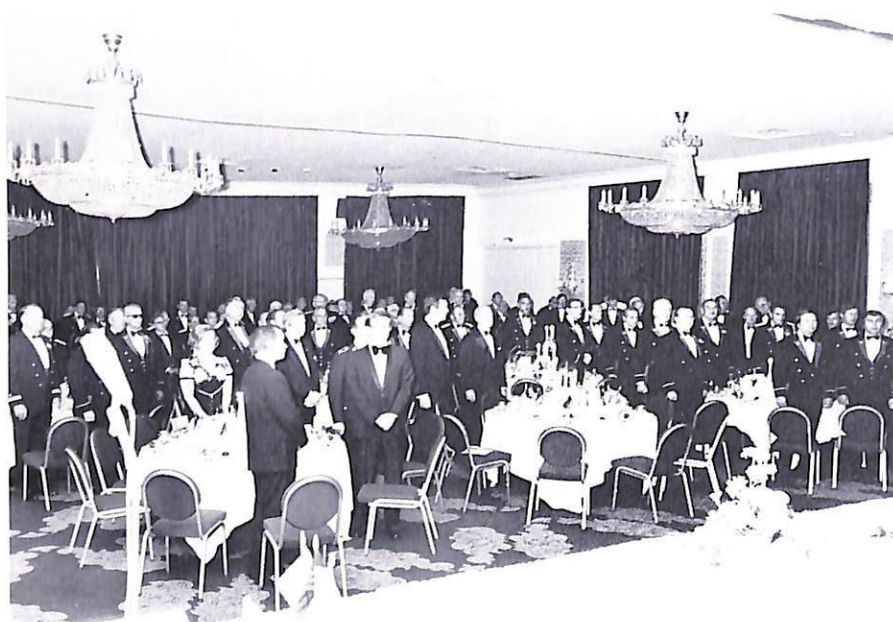

Give your attention to the Adjutant, Lieutenant George E. Peznola.

LT PEZNOLA:

The First Regular Toast:

The Captain Commanding extending his welcome to the 336th FFDTD Banquet and calling on the Chaplain for the Invocation.

Guests and Members at the 336th FFDTD Banquet, Hamburg, Germany.

FEDERAL REPUBLIC OF GERMANY

Old in history, young in vigor, rational, clear-sighted, internally stable, willing and competent to work and a leader of consistent strides towards peace in the world.

[GERMAN NATIONAL ANTHEM]

LTC ZAREIKO:

Please give your attention to the Adjutant.

LT PEZNOLA:

The Second Regular Toast:

UNITED STATES OF AMERICA

Land of freedom and hope, forever eager to achieve greatness but always mindful to extend a helping hand to those in need.

[AMERICAN NATIONAL ANTHEM]

LTC ZAREIKO:

Please be seated.

Gentlemen, before I introduce the Head Table Guests, I would like to make two announcements.

First, in front of you is a set of flags which were provided for by our Sergeants. They are yours to take back home as a souvenir of this evening. Sergeants, will you stand and be recognized.

[Applause]

The second announcement is that we are indebted to Polizeihauptkommissar Siegfried Grenz for the band that was provided for us today and the members of the band of the Musikkorps der Schutzpolizei Hamburg who are playing for us this evening. Gentlemen, I ask you to join me in a standing ovation for this wonderful band.

[Standing Ovation]

Now, I would like to introduce the Head Table Guests.

On my left, your right:

The Adjutant, Lieutenant George E. Peznola.

The G3 of the Third Armored Division, Oberst Leutnant Im Generalstab Wolfgang Estorf.

Representing our Catholic Chaplain, Father Edward J. McCabe.

The Chief of Protocol of the Senate, Senatsdirektor Doctor Hans Herbert Groothoff.

A man who served with the 101st Infantry in World War II, a member of the Army Reserve, recently appointed a Federal Judge, a member of our Company, Brigadier General William A. Shue.

The Commander of the Military Staff College, Oberst Doctor Guenter Will.

A man who served with the 101st Infantry in World War II, a former Assistant Adjutant General, a member of our Company, Brigadier General Walter J. Gleason.

The Deputy Commander, Standortkommando Hamburg, a man who worked relentlessly in coordinating our programs, our very good friend, and to whom I, personally, will forever be grateful, Oberst Leutnant Jobst A. von Schack.

A graduate of the United States Naval Academy, Annapolis, and a member of our Company, Rear Admiral Timothy J. Donohue.

The Commander of the Officer Candidate School, Brigadegeneral Horst Scheuermann.

The Second Lieutenant, Lieutenant Robert D. Murphy.

The Commanding General of the Third Armored Division, Generalmajor Horst Ohrloff.

On my right, your left:

The Deputy Chief of Protocol of the Senate, Doctor Hans H. Dörmer.
The Senior Chaplain of the 26th (Yankee) Infantry Division, Chaplain of The Massachusetts Military Academy, and our Protestant Chaplain, Colonel Frank J. Bauer.

The Chief of Staff of the Third Armored Division, Oberst Im Generalstab Heinrich Beckmann.

A man who served in the Air Force during World War II, a member of our Air National Guard, a member of our Company, Brigadier General Francis H. King.

The Commander of the 17th Armored Infantry Brigade, Oberst Gerwin Schroeder.

Representing the Mayor of the City of Boston, a member of our Company, Colonel Timothy J. O'Leary.

Representing the United States in Hamburg, the man who gave us productive help on the Pre-Trip in June and on this official trip, Consul General John A. Brogan III.

The Commander of the Massachusetts National Lancers, a member of our Company, Brigadier General Dino D. DiCarlo.

The First Lieutenant, Colonel Ernest J. Montilio.

The Mayor of the Free and Hanseatic City of Hamburg, Bürgermeister Hans Rau.

Thank you, Gentlemen.

LTC ZAREIKO:

Gentlemen, please give your attention to the Adjutant.

LT PEZNOLA:

The Third Regular Toast:

FREE AND HANSEATIC CITY OF HAMBURG

The living example of progress through ability, the acme of courage and determination, the personified character of perseverance and a heart of true friendship.

LTC ZAREIKO:

Please be seated.

To respond to the Toast to the Free and Hanseatic City of Hamburg, I call on the Mayor of the City, Bürgermeister Hans Rau.

BÜRGERMEISTER HANS RAU:

Gentlemen, in my own name and in behalf of the Senate of the Free and Hanseatic City of Hamburg, I cordially thank you for the good wishes proposed in your Toast upon Hamburg, as well as for your kind invitation to be a guest of your Ancient and Honorable Artillery Company of Massachusetts, this evening.

We appreciate very much that you chose Hamburg to get acquainted with Germany, and we are well aware of this honor. I welcome this new opportunity.

nity of contacts with high-ranking personalities of the social and business life of the United States within the walls of this City, and I sincerely hope that this visit in Hamburg will not remain the last one here.

Although upon first sight there seems to be hardly any links between this civilian State of Hamburg and the military tradition of your Company, both have in common something highly esteemed; your Company in its 336th year is proud of its heritage and traditions; so is Hamburg, which already was a Republic when your Company was chartered. We meet your Company as a manifestation of American history, the history of the first settlements in New England, the history of America's Independence, of ending colonial rule and of the rise of a new nation in a New World.

Hardly any German town has as many traditional, friendly and wide-ranged relations with your country as Hamburg has. In the early days of America, and especially in the times after the French Revolution, for thousands, Hamburg was the gateway to the New World, the last station on the old continent before embarking in the venture of seeking freedom in the New World.

On the other hand, the Independence of America, ending England's monopoly in trade and traffic with her former colony, laid the foundations for the growth and importance of the port of Hamburg, now one of the largest ports on the European continent.

In these days, aside of commerce and industry, also cultural and scientific relations between the United States and Hamburg have developed to a wide scope of contacts. Many famous opera singers from the United States are regular guests at the Hamburg State Opera; scientists from both sides of the Atlantic Ocean meet regularly in Hamburg, and thousands of American citizens come here every year as tourists or on business trips.

In the walls of this city are living more Americans than in any other German town, with the exception of the United States Army garrisons in Germany. More United States companies than elsewhere in Germany have their regional headquarters here in Hamburg, and all United States oil companies settled here to manage their business in Germany.

Consequently, more United States investments are channeled into Germany and the European community from Hamburg than from other German towns. This fact is not merely an accident but the result of rational calculation on the side of your countrymen. Hamburg's trade facilities, her harbor, and her world-wide relations as well as the thorough care for the needs of commerce and industry, were the points counting for Hamburg to become a gateway to Europe. Quite recently, large international companies, again, decided to invest in this town which is as dynamic as her traditions are old.

This wide range of cordial relations is based upon the solid friendship between our nations. Hamburg stands firm in this friendship. Without this friendship and the solid backing of the Western Alliance, the successful policy of détente and peace of Federal Chancellor Willy Brandt and Vice Chancellor and Foreign Minister Walter Scheel would have been impossible. To us, the United States and its military shield is the bedrock of this Alliance. The United States and the free part of Europe depend on each other politically as well as economically, probably, even the European community never would have become a reality without initiating impulses from your country.

Under this aspect, therefore, the present development of relations between the European community and the United States is not a state of antagonism but a contribution to the fostering of the Atlantic Alliance. This Alliance never has been of greater actuality to us than today. The Atlantic Alliance, however, should not confine itself to the military aspect, but go far beyond.

I kindly ask you, Gentlemen, to take this confession to German-American friendship home to America, when you leave Hamburg. Until then, I sincerely hope that you enjoy your stay here and meet many old and new friends.

May I conclude my short address to your honorable Company by lifting my glass and Toast to the lasting friendship between the Federal Republic of Germany and the United States of America.

Thank you, Gentlemen.

[Applause]

LTC ZAREIKO:

Bürgermeister, you left the podium too soon. May I ask that you return, please.

It is my pleasure, in behalf of the Ancient and Honorable Artillery Company, to present to you a token of our gratitude and we hope that from time to time when you look at it, you will think of us.

This Paul Revere bowl is inscribed: "Presented to Bürgermeister Hans Rau, 336th Fall Field Day Tour of Duty, Hamburg, Germany, 1973, Joseph S. Zareiko, Captain Commanding."

BÜRGERMEISTER RAU:

Gentlemen, I am honored and I am obliged to you. Thank you, very much.

[Applause]

LTC ZAREIKO:

I would like to call upon Consul General John A. Brogan III so that I may, in behalf of the Company, present him with a Paul Revere bowl to show our gratitude for his wonderful work in making the 336th Fall Field Day Tour of Duty the success that it is.

CONSUL GENERAL BROGAN:

Colonel Zareiko, Bürgermeister Rau, I could not help thinking this morning, as I stood in front of the Consulate and watched the parade pass by, to look at those banners flying in the wind; I thought of your organization; I know something of it; I thought of King Philip's War; I thought of Bunker Hill; I thought of Trenton, Princeton, Valley Forge. I also thought of the proud German who whipped our undisciplined colonies together and made them an effective fighting force for liberty, General von Steuben. I also thought of the Continental Army and of our first President, General Washington. I also thought that under the first administration of President Washington and Under Secretary of State, Thomas Jefferson, the fledgling United States sent out to Hamburg its first diplomats and in this proud City, Free City of Hamburg, we established, in 1790, our first Consulate.

All of these things crossed my mind, this confluence of history, whether it was Valley Forge, or whether it was General von Steuben, or whether it was the American Consulate, but I must say, it was a very proud occasion for me this morning to represent the United States and to see this distinguished body of Americans pass by and dip their flag in honor of us and in honor of me.

Gentlemen, I can say, I was very proud and that I salute you in return. Thank you for coming to Hamburg.

[Applause]

LTC ZAREIKO:

Gentlemen, please rise and give your attention to the Adjutant.

LT PEZNOLA:

The Fourth Regular Toast:

COMMONWEALTH OF MASSACHUSETTS

Bay State of the Nation, the center of New England, rich in tradition and heritage of yesteryear and uniquely endowed with capabilities for the future.

LTC ZAREIKO:

Please be seated.

To respond to the Toast to the Commonwealth of Massachusetts, I call on Brigadier General Dino D. DiCarlo.

BRIGADIER GENERAL DiCARLO:

Comrades, Distinguished Head Table Guests. It is with great pleasure that I bring the greetings of His Excellency, Francis W. Sargent, to Hamburg. He hopes that the 336th Fall Field Day Tour of Duty will be a tremendous success. Thank you.

[Applause]

LTC ZAREIKO:

I would now like to call on Colonel von Schack to come to the podium.

I do not think that there is any way of repaying you for your services to our Company. To say that you have been outstanding would be just too insignificant.

Oberstleutnant Jobst A. von Schack receives a sterling silver Paul Revere bowl from the Captain, during the 336th FFDTD Banquet, Hamburg, 1 October 1973.

nificant. You have worked diligently and unselfishly to make our trip to Hamburg a memorable one. In behalf of our Company, I wish to present a Paul Revere bowl to you, suitably inscribed, as a token of our esteem and gratitude.

COLONEL von SCHACK:

Comrades, and may I say friends to you. I have not enough words to say what I think and to say how I feel this moment. I have found many new friends and I hope that the next days we are together will be successful for you and that you can remember this visit to Hamburg and the other Hanseatic towns. We will try to make the plan continue as smoothly as on this day. I thank you, very much.

[Applause]

LTC ZAREIKO:

Gentlemen, please rise and give your attention to the Adjutant.

LT PEZNOLA:

The Fifth Regular Toast:

CITY OF BOSTON

Cradle of Liberty, proud of its history and accomplishments, the hub of education, technology and art, the home of the Ancient and Honorable Artillery Company.

LTC ZAREIKO:

Please be seated.

To respond to the Toast to the City of Boston, I call on Colonel Timothy J. O'Leary.

COLONEL O'LEARY:

Captain Commanding, Officers, Guests and Comrades. It is with pride that I respond to the Toast to the City of Boston. As one of the oldest cities in America, it has much in common with the City of Hamburg and I am happy to bring to you the best wishes of His Honor, Kevin Hagen White, the Mayor of the City of Boston. Thank you.

[Applause]

LTC ZAREIKO:

Gentlemen, before the Sixth Regular Toast, I would like to make an announcement.

I would like to take the opportunity at this time to extend the thanks of the Ancient and Honorable Artillery Company to Mr. Fred G. Peelen, General Manager of the Hotel Inter-Continental, for his outstanding services and interests in our behalf and who is accompanied by his executive secretary, Miss Ingeburg Meuer. Would you both please rise.

[Applause]

Gentlemen, please rise and give your attention to the Adjutant.

LT PEZNOLA:

The Sixth Regular Toast:

ANCIENT AND HONORABLE ARTILLERY COMPANY OF MASSACHUSETTS

Democracy in practice, tradition by heritage, dedication unsurpassed.

LTC ZAREIKO:

Please be seated.

Before I respond, because it is customary for the Captain Commanding to respond to the Toast to the Company, I would like to extend a cordial invitation to all present here this evening to join me for an after-dinner drink at the Presidential Suite on the 7th floor. I would like to see all of you there.

Although our world has become progressively smaller in direct contrast to the growing air transportation systems internationally, there are still, nevertheless, many countries which pride themselves in having cities of beauty, culture, and commerce, tempered with history and heritage. Nonetheless, with all these cities as possible choices for the Ancient and Honorable Artillery Company to visit on its annual Fall Field Day Tour of Duty, I decided, without any hesitation, that the Free and Hanseatic City of Hamburg would be the most desirable.

Its beauty is unparalleled; its culture is envied all over the world; the uniqueness and unsurpassed efficiency of its harbor is not only world famous, but undeniably the finest. Tradition is a way of life in Hamburg and heritage is its pride.

Geographically, Hamburg is the focal point of all Europe. Because of this it has become a cosmopolitan city, which perhaps is the key factor of promoting understanding between the peoples of the world. It is no small wonder that Hamburg has become so successful in this regard, for it is through communication and being given the opportunity to discuss and evaluate each others' ideas, that progress is inevitable.

The brief outline in our program booklet for this evening was inserted to provide our Distinguished Guests with a condensed profile regarding our Company. In essence, our Company has, over the years since its conception as a school to train men to become officers in the military concept, developed into an organization primarily to maintain the continuity of the traditions of yesteryear through its ceremonial involvements. This is particularly appropriate at the time of the Fall Field Day Tour of Duty. It is with the approval of our State Department in Washington, D.C. that we have been allowed to leave our country as an organization to convey to our hosts, the officials and people of Hamburg, our most sincere greetings, hoping that by our visit to your beautiful city, that not only will a closer bond exist between us, but that our friendships will remain with us as a truly cherished memory.

[Applause]

Now I call on Father McCabe for the Benediction.

FATHER McCABE:

Almighty God, we have assembled here this evening for altruistic purposes through the fellowship this event has generated. May we always be mindful of our responsibilities to You and to each other. Dismiss us, now, in peace and love as we say, we all thank God, or in the words of our hosts, Nun danken alle Gott.

LTC ZAREIKO:

Gentlemen, thank you, all.

The 336th Fall Field Day Tour of Duty Banquet is concluded.

(It was interesting to note, that the men were so captivated by the magnificent renditions of the Musikkorps der Schutzpolizei Hamburg orchestra, that no one left the Ballsaal until the music intended for departing had been concluded.)

It was evident that everyone accepted the Captain's invitation for an after-dinner drink at his Presidential Suite which provided all with an opportunity to relive a truly memorable day. The last guest, slowly and rather reluctantly, departed at about 0300, in the morning.)

COMMONWEALTH OF MASSACHUSETTS VETERANS DAY

22 October 1973

The Company was represented by the First Lieutenant, COL Ernest J. Montilio and the Adjutant, LT George E. Peznola at the annual Veterans Day Exercises, Hall of Flags, State House, Boston on 22 October 1973 at 1000.

The music renditions were provided by our member, Bandmaster CWO John J. Shea.

The Honorable Donald R. Dwight delivered the address and memorial wreaths were placed by the participating veterans organizations and ladies auxiliaries.

MASSACHUSETTS NATIONAL LANCERS 137th ANNIVERSARY COMMANDERS' DINNER DANCE

27 October 1973

The Captain Commanding, LTC Joseph S. Zareiko and his wife were honored to represent the Company at the Massachusetts National Lancers 137th Anniversary Commanders' Dinner Dance held at the Louis XIV Ballroom, The Somerset on Saturday, 27 October 1973.

It was evident, throughout the entire evening, that much planning and thought had been accomplished to pay tribute to the Guest of Honor, the former Governor of the Commonwealth, Endicott Peabody.

The festive atmosphere was only surpassed by the friendship and congeniality evidenced by the large number in attendance.

Many officials of the Commonwealth were present which attested to the popularity of not only former Governor and Mrs. Peabody but also that of the hosting Lancers, commanded by BG Dino DiCarlo.

The Ancients were represented in large numbers and in addition, the Captain was honored by being seated at the head table and also called upon as one of the speakers on the occasion of honoring our former Commander in Chief.

LIEUTENANTS' DINNER DANCE

9 November 1973

The Lieutenants' Dinner Dance was held at the Chateau de Ville in Randolph.

Prior to entering the banquet hall, the guests were greeted, informally, by the two hosts of the Lieutenants' Party, First Lieutenant Ernest J. Montilio and Second Lieutenant Robert D. Murphy while, simultaneously, enjoying hot and cold hors d'oeuvres and cocktails. The grandeur of the ballroom provided a most pleasant setting for a gourmet dinner of filet mignon, appropriate wine for every table, and flaming strawberry ice cream for dessert.

The Captain, First Lieutenant, Adjutant, and Aide at the Lieutenants' Dinner Dance.

Approximately 500 persons, the men attired in their military dress uniforms and their ladies brilliantly gowned, dined and danced until midnight to the music of our comrade, Warrant Officer John J. Shea.

At the conclusion of the meal, LT Montilio greeted those present with a word of welcome and in turn introduced LT Murphy for a few words followed by the Captain Commanding, LTC Zareiko, who congratulated the two Lieutenants for their efforts in arranging such a delightful affair for the Ancients and their wives.

Adding to the enjoyment of the evening and the wonderful music, the Ancients and their ladies were entertained by two singing nuns, Sisters Rosalie and Rosemond. The Show Toppers sang lively selections from Musical Comedies which met with great approval and delight.

Brooches for the ladies and cigars for the men provided the finishing touch to a wonderful Lieutenants' Dinner Dance.

ENERGY CRISIS PANEL

28 November 1973

The Captain Commanding, LTC Joseph S. Zareiko and his Aide, COL Albert P. Dragone hosted the Energy Crisis Panel at the Armory, after a symposium held in Faneuil Hall at 1730 on 28 November 1973.

Secretary John Verani, State Consumer Affairs, headed the business and civic leaders, all of whom enjoyed the facilities of our Armory and Museum.

ANNUAL RED LEG BALL 26th (YANKEE) INFANTRY DIVISION ARTILLERY

1 December 1973

The Captain Commanding, LTC Joseph S. Zareiko and his wife were delighted to represent the Company at the Annual Red Leg Ball held at the Lexington Armory at 1900 on Saturday, 1 December 1973.

The social hour, replete with refreshments and meeting many friends, including many Ancients with their wives, was truly most enjoyable. The Captain and his wife were accorded the pleasure of representing the Company as head table guests. The dinner which followed, was the superlative result of the planning committee in charge of the dinner. The multi-course menu was unbelievable. In spite of the overabundance of food, all appeared to avail themselves of the very fine music provided for dining and dancing pleasure.

Colonel Paul A. McGowan and his staff, although known as men of the king of battle, have also demonstrated their ability to be kings of a delightful and unforgettable evening, particularly, since a very close and friendly association exists between the 26th (Yankee) Division Artillery and the Ancient and Honorable Artillery Company.

SECRETARY DAVOREN'S ANNUAL CHRISTMAS CHARITY BALL

5 December 1973

On Wednesday evening, 5 December 1973, a number of Ancients led by the Captain Commanding, participated and provided the Guard of Honor to the Honorable and Mrs. John F.X. Davoren at the Secretary's Annual Christmas Charity Ball for the Retarded and Crippled Children of Massachusetts held at the Sidney Hill Country Club.

The following Ancients attended:

LTC JOSEPH S. ZAREIKO, Captain Commanding
LT GEORGE E. PEZNOLA, Adjutant

FIRST DAY OF ISSUE CEREMONY IN HONOR OF SAMUEL ADAMS 8¢ POSTAL CARD

16 December 1973

The Company was delighted to accept the kind invitation of the Postmaster, George K. Walker, to post the Colors at the First Day of Issue Ceremony held at 1100, 16 December 1973 at the Old South Meeting House, Boston.

Samuel Adams, the Colonial Patriot honored by this tribute, had been a very active leader during the American Revolution. He openly opposed the Sugar Act, opposed the Stamp Act, was a member of the Massachusetts Legislature, a member of Organized Committee of Correspondence, a participant of the Boston Tea Party Meeting, delegate to the First Continental Congress, signer of the Declaration of Independence, member of the Massachusetts Ratifying Convention, Lieutenant Governor of Massachusetts, and Governor of Massachusetts from 1794-1797.

The following Ancients participated:

LTC JOSEPH S. ZAREIKO, Captain Commanding
LT ROBERT D. MURPHY, Second Lieutenant
LT GEORGE E. PEZNOLA, Adjutant

CHAPMAN, SGT FRANCIS S.

THE VETERAN GUARD
THIRD REGIMENT INFANTRY
NATIONAL GUARD OF PENNSYLVANIA 1879
80th MILITARY RECEPTION AND BALL

11 January 1974

The Adjutant, LT George E. Peznola, and his wife represented the Company at the 80th Military Reception and Ball of the Veteran Guard, Third Regiment of Pennsylvania 1879 held at the Bellevue-Stratford Hotel in Philadelphia on 11 January 1974.

Two representatives of the Centennial Legion of Historic Military Commands were present in addition to representatives from ten participating units of the Centennial Legion.

The occasion was conducted with exacting precision, with the Ancient and Honorable Artillery Company being accorded the first place of march.

The Adjutant was asked to convey the appreciation of the Veteran Guard to our Company, inasmuch as this was the first time that the A&HAC was represented for the past seven years.

It is interesting to note that the Guard was originally named "The Associates", formed in 1747 and founded by Benjamin Franklin.

OLD GUARD OF THE CITY OF NEW YORK MILITARY BALL AND REVIEW

25 January – 27 January 1974

Under the direction of the Captain Commanding, LTC Joseph S. Zareiko, Crimson Travel Service was authorized to arrange and conduct an exciting trip to New York City, starting Friday, 25 January through Sunday, 27 January 1974 to participate in the 148th Anniversary of the Old Guard of the City of New York.

Transportation was by reserved cars on the Amtrak's Turbotrain, Yankee Clipper. A most welcomed box lunch with an abundance of accompanying liquid refreshments were served, courtesy of the ever-present and most accommodating Sergeants. Each lady was presented a beautifully arranged corsage of carnations, again, with the compliments of the Sergeants.

Upon arrival at Penn Station, NYC, the group was transferred to the luxurious New York Hilton Hotel but not before the third bus provided an unforgettable memory. On route to the Hotel, smoke started to be discernible from the engine and only after some pedestrians had succeeded in conveying the message to those inside that the bus had a smoldering fire aboard, did the passengers realize that a quick exit was in order. The Sergeants displayed their leadership qualities and in particular the Adjutant, through his thorough involvement, directed members of our group into hailed taxicabs and simultaneously aided in solving the ensuing traffic problems. He was commended by the police on the scene for his vigorous adroitness and astuteness. Needless to say, all personnel and hand-carried luggage came through unscathed.

Considering the labor bureaucracy in the big city, our luggage followed very quickly and was delivered directly to the respective rooms.

At 1930, an appetite-appeasing gourmet dinner was served, with appropriate wine, at the exclusive Tower Suite on the 48th floor of the Time and Life building. After dinner, all were invited to have a nightcap at the Captain's suite. The last to leave were refreshed by drinking cold milk and the informality came to a close at 0300.

Saturday was a day of leisure and it was surprising to note how many different ways the Ancients and guests spent the day. In the evening, another gourmet dinner with wine was served to our group. While dining, we were entertained by a musical group from Capri with song, specializing in Italian music which created a very lively atmosphere and was appreciated by all. Following dinner, all returned to the Hotel to change for the Ball and Review. Commencing at 2100, a special shuttle bus was available for us between the New York Hilton and the Commodore Hotel. This service was provided until 0200.

Approximately 35 Ancients participated in the ceremony of the Review, four of whom joined the participants for the Review, and many complimentary remarks were received regarding the precision presentation by our Company.

The morning of Sunday and early afternoon were spent at leisure. At about 1700, our special buses transferred us to Penn Station for our return trip to Boston. The Turbotrain, Yankee Clipper left at 1815, and the Sergeants immediately started their hospitality again by serving delectable sandwiches and liquid cheer. The Sergeants' hospitality and eagerness to be of service was evident throughout and gratefully accepted and enjoyed by all participants.

At the New Haven stop, the United Aircraft engineers on the Turbotrain found a faulty air brake compression system and the ensuing attempts to repair the problem took approximately one hour, during which time, two other engines were placed into position as an alternative, if the needed repairs could not be made. Fortunately, the backup engines did not have to be used and the rest of the trip was without further incident.

The trip was an outstanding success for the nearly 100 participants, thanks to the personalized concern and professional services provided by two attending Surgeons of the Company. The Captain was justifiably proud and honored to head the trip and it was his desire to place in the record, a very special thanks to the Sergeants and their wives, who contributed so unselfishly to make this particular trip, such a memorable one.

89th WASHINGTON'S BIRTHDAY CELEBRATION LUNCHEON AND RECEPTION TO GOVERNOR

18 February 1974

CAPTAIN COMMANDING, LTC JOSEPH S. ZAREIKO, Presiding

Preceded by a cocktail hour, hosted by the Commissioned Officer candidates, the traditional Washington's Birthday luncheon was celebrated at the Armory by a better-than-average attendance on Monday, 18 February 1974. An impressive cross section of invited distinguished guests graced the head table, among whom were Doctor Otto G. Burchard, German Consul General, representing the Federal Republic of Germany; The Honorable Alastair Maitland, British Consul General, representing Her Majesty Queen Elizabeth II; representatives of the United States Army; United States Navy; United States Coast Guard and the United States Marine Corps. The Commander in Chief was represented by the Secretary of Safety, BG Richard E. McLaughlin, and the Mayor was represented by The Honorable Peter G. Meade.

Dr. Otto G. Burchard, German Consul General, confers with the Captain during Washington's Birthday Luncheon joined by BG Richard E. McLaughlin and HON Peter G. Meade.

In direct contrast to many of the previous Washington's Birthday luncheon speeches noted for gaiety and lightness, many expressed their thinking in perhaps a more serious manner undoubtedly due to the economic concern complicated by bewildering national and international fluctuations.

(The Captain Commanding concluded the festivities by the following address:)

It is my personal pleasure to welcome each one of you, particularly since there is a gasoline shortage, to the 89th Anniversary of the Ancient and Honorable Artillery Company's participation at the dedication of the tallest structure in the world at that time, the Washington Monument in Washington, D.C. in 1885, coinciding with George Washington's birthday on the 22nd of February.

History records show that our Company had a 5-day excursion to the District of Columbia to be the official escort to Chester Alan Arthur, President of the United States and Honorary Member of the Ancient and Honorable Artillery Company, on the occasion of the dedicatory exercises.

The orator selected was Lieutenant Colonel and Honorable Robert C. Winthrop, also a member of our Company and a descendant of Governor John Winthrop, who together with the Council confirmed by the General Court, granted a charter to the Military Company of Massachusetts, later to become known as the Ancient and Honorable Artillery Company of Massachusetts. Honorable Robert C. Winthrop, however, was not able to deliver his oration due to a severe case of pneumonia. The Honorable John D. Long, also an Honorary Member of our Company, a former Governor of Massachusetts, and then a member of the House of Representatives was selected to deliver the prepared speech at the joint request of the Monument Commission and Mr. Winthrop.

In his extensive and lengthy speech, the emphasis was on the man, George Washington, and not on the monument. It was brought forth that before the imposing edifice of marble, granite, porphyry and free-stone became a reality, the proposed 550-foot symbol of respect, weighing 32,000 tons, to the Father of our Country, was the subject involving pity, despair, and frustration. The deplorable Civil War palsied the interest in its completion. It was inevitable that all hardships would be overcome for the genuineness of the character of George Washington provided the continuous impetus to the government officials and to the people of the land, to finish the greatest attestation in memory of the first President of our Country.

Our meeting this afternoon is our gesture to honor a man who achieved our country's independence by the sword and maintained that independence by peace. He then established both his country and its freedom in an enduring frame of constitutional government, fashioned to make liberty and union one and inseparable.

BRISTOL TRAIN OF ARTILLERY RHODE ISLAND MILITIA 198th ANNIVERSARY

23 February 1974

The cordial invitation of the Bristol Train of Artillery to attend the 198th Anniversary Banquet and Ball at the BTA Armory, Bristol, Rhode Island was accepted with pleasure by the Captain Commanding and Adjutant accompanied by their wives.

The gasoline shortage did not deter the enthusiasm shown by a large attendance representing an outstanding cross section of the member units of The Centennial Legion of Historic Military Commands.

The Massachusetts National Lancers, commanded by one of our members, MG Dino DiCarlo, were honored by the BTA for their exemplary participation in their official capacity as the mounted escort to the Governor of the Commonwealth of Massachusetts.

MG RICHARD J. QUIGLEY RETIREMENT

31 March 1974

A reception and review was tendered MG Richard J. Quigley on Sunday, 31 March 1974 at Camp Curtis Guild on the occasion of the termination of his services as Commandant of The Massachusetts Military Academy by the Officers and Cadets of The Massachusetts Military Academy.

In spite of a rather cold, dreary, and misty rainfall the excellent precision demonstration to honor MG Quigley was heart-warming and most satisfying.

The following Ancients were in attendance:

MASSACHUSETTS INSTITUTE of TECHNOLOGY ROTC AWARDS BANQUET

13 April 1974

In behalf of Captain Commanding LTC Joseph S. Zareiko, LTC Donald P. Eriksen represented the Company at the MIT ROTC Awards Banquet on Tuesday, 13 April at the MIT Faculty Club, 50 Memorial Drive, Cambridge.

Cocktails were at 1730 followed by dinner at 1830. Colonel Eriksen was introduced to: Dr. Jerome B. Wiesner, President of MIT; Mr. Howard Johnson, Chairman of the Board, MIT; LTG Lampart USA (Retired), Vice President of Resource Development, MIT and former Commandant of West Point; and BG Wilfred K.G. Smith USA, Deputy Chief of Staff for ROTC Headquarters U.S. Army Training and Doctrine Command.

The A&HAC Award, a sterling silver Paul Revere bowl was presented to the outstanding ROTC graduate cadet (Army) Thomas K. Matoj, majoring in Aeronautics and Astronautics.

199th ANNIVERSARY LANTERN HANGING SERVICES OLD NORTH CHURCH

14 April 1974

The Lexington Minute Men added a very appropriate preface to the annual Church services centered around the traditional hanging of the lanterns at the Old North Church by escorting the Ancient and Honorable Artillery Company from the junction of Parmenter Street and Hanover Street to the Paul Revere courtyard.

The Ancients were tendered a salute by the Lexington Minute Men and given the traditional honor to lead the military delegations into the Old North Church. It was enlightening to witness, what could be possibly accepted as a routine ceremony, that each successive year brings with it great enthusiasm and interest by all in attendance. This is undoubtedly brought about by the sincerity and dedication of not only by those who participate but by those who come to witness this historical ceremony.

The Lexington Minute Men are to be congratulated for their noteworthy contribution and the Ancient and Honorable Artillery Company is grateful for the honor bestowed upon our Company.

The following Ancients participated in this service which, incidentally, fell on Easter Sunday:

PATRIOTS DAY EXERCISES BOSTON PARADE

15 April 1974

An unusually large attendance of various military and other organizations formed at the City Hall Plaza to begin the Patriots Day parade by the raising of the flag to the tune of the national anthem.

The Ancient and Honorable Artillery Company was accorded the place of honor as the leading military organization, halting at the gravesite of Paul Revere for a brief wreath-laying ceremony. The parade continued through the streets of Boston to Hanover Street, past the reviewing stand at the Paul Revere courtyard.

All members were invited to return to the Armory for a collation which was cosponsored by the Sergeants of 1973-74.

The Ancients present were:

PATRIOTS DAY EXERCISES LEXINGTON PARADE

15 April 1974

Ideal weather conditions prevailed for the traditional Lexington Patriots Day parade on 15 April 1974.

Forty-three members of the Ancient and Honorable Artillery Company displayed their strength and vigor over the rather lengthy parade route. It was interesting to note, to the dismay of some and to the delight of others, that not once did our organization come to a complete halt during the entire march. Our Company was positioned in the first division directly behind the band of the Maritime Academy, which, as expected, concentrated on march music relating to the sea. In spite of this, although the reason did exist, not one member of the Ancients suffered the ravages of being seasick.

Many members accepted the hospitality of the Lexington Minute Men at the Hancock United Church of Christ before the parade and it was greatly evident that their continued hospitality after the parade was willingly received with tremendous appreciation. Food was in abundance and the varied liquors added the final touch to a delightful day. The spirit of friendliness between these two organizations should be fostered to greater proportions, which can only result in a mutual benefit in entertaining similar goals.

The Ancient and Honorable Artillery Company extends a warm and friendly thank you to the officers and men of the Lexington Minute Men command.

The following Ancients participated in this parade:

PATRIOTS DAY EXERCISES CONCORD PARADE

19 April 1974

Under an ominous rain cloud which did not materialize, our Company participated in the 199th annual Concord parade to the battleground over the Old North Bridge and for the decoration and memorial exercises at the Minute Man Monument and British gravesites.

Our Company took the cadence from the Fort Ticonderoga Fifes and Drums and although they were excellent their beat was much slower than the cadence that our members were accustomed to. In spite of this fact the vitality of all participating members of our Company prevailed and neither the slow cadence nor the long parade deterred us from displaying our usual very best.

Twenty-four members paraded, including the colors, while four other members preferred to join the ranks of the concourse.

Those parading were:

THE MASSACHUSETTS MILITARY ACADEMY MILITARY BALL

27 April 1974

Captain Commanding and Mrs. Joseph S. Zareiko were delighted to accept the very kind invitation of Cadet John F. Eagar, President, Class Forty-One, MMA, to represent the Company at The Massachusetts Military Academy Military Ball.

The colorful and well-conducted affair was held at the Sheraton-Tara Hotel in Braintree. The Captain and his lady were honored by being asked to join in receiving the Cadet Corps and enjoyed an excellent dinner at the reserved table which included BG and Mrs. Nicholas Del Torto, CG, 26th Infantry (Yankee) Division; COL and Mrs. Joseph Martin, Commandant, MMA; COL and Mrs. Frank J. Bauer, Chaplain, MMA and A&HAC; and CPT and Mrs. John Drummey, representing Governor Sargent on this occasion.

Other Ancients present were COL and Mrs. Charles Tinkham, MAJ and Mrs. Thomas Clegg, and CWO and Mrs. Francis McCarthy.

The Grand March was enjoyed by all as was the dancing. The evening was a delightful success in its own right, but even more so to know that the MMA greatly appreciates the A&HAC and the interest that our Company has for their Academy.

COLLEGE OF THE HOLY CROSS ROTC REVIEW

29 April 1974

The Twenty-Third Annual President's Review of the Reserve Officers Training Corps, College of the Holy Cross, Worcester, was held at the Hogan Campus Center, to honor the President of the College and to present various awards to the cadets and midshipmen who have distinguished themselves academically and militarily during the year. The review was the culmination of the ROTC year on the College of the Holy Cross Campus — a year of hard work, new experiences and above all, achievement. Eighteen Air Force and twenty Navy-Marine awards were presented by veterans organizations and business leaders of the community.

The A&HAC donated a sterling silver Paul Revere bowl which was presented to Midshipman Fourth Class Peter H. Daly, the outstanding Freshman Midshipman, and another identical award to the outstanding Marine Science Student Midshipman, First Class Cornelius W. Murray, by COL Frederick A. York, Jr., PC, Class of 1921, accompanied by SGT Finis E. Swinford.

Immediately following the review and presentations a reception was given by the Very Reverend John E. Brooks, S.J., President of the College who greeted the many donors and presenters as did CPT Richard A. Schnorf, USN, Professor of Naval Science and Commanding Officer, and LTC Clifford A. Karch, USAF, Professor of Aerospace Studies.

ANNUAL TRIPE DINNER

30 April 1974

In behalf of the Company's appreciation for the time and effort expended during the year 1973-74, the Elected and Appointed Officers, Elected Sergeants, and Past Commanders were the guests of LTC Joseph S. Zareiko, Captain Commanding, at the traditional Tripe Dinner held at Mamma Leone's Ristorante, Boston on 30 April 1974.

It was an informal gathering specifically planned to enable those in attendance to enjoy the leisurely served courses of an outstanding menu constantly punctuated by liquid refreshments.

The Captain Commanding delivered a stirring address focused on the importance of understanding and compassion. His remarks and genuineness of delivery were received with a standing ovation.

LEXINGTON MINUTE MEN 201st ANNIVERSARY CELEBRATION

4 May 1974

The warmth and open friendliness of the Lexington Minute Men at their 201st Anniversary celebration was present throughout and gratefully accepted by the Captain Commanding and Adjutant who, accompanied by their wives, represented the Company at this splendid event.

By virtue of our 1638 heritage, our organization was given its customary place of honor in the Grand March.

Because of the cordiality, the most appreciated recognition of the Company, and the wonderful dinner and abundant refreshments, the Company was honored to participate in their celebration.

FUSILIER VETERAN CORPS ANNIVERSARY

11 May 1974

The 187th Anniversary of the Fusilier Veteran Corps, commanded by LTC Leo E. Bourdon, Jr., was held on Saturday, 11 May at the Point of Pines Yacht Club, Revere.

A large delegation of Ancients with their wives, led by LTC Joseph S. Zareiko, Captain Commanding, attended the festivities and thoroughly enjoyed the full course roast beef dinner.

Dancing, comradery and socializing highlighted a wonderful evening with one of our closely related members of the Centennial Legion.

Ancients in attendance were:

LTC JOSEPH S. ZAREIKO, Captain Commanding
LT GEORGE E. PEZNOLA, Adjutant

BOSTON MARINE SOCIETY 232nd ANNIVERSARY

14 May 1974

Boston Marine Society, the oldest marine society in the world, held its 232nd Birthday and Ladies' Night Dinner Dance on Tuesday evening in the Oval Room, Copley Plaza Hotel, Boston.

A reception for the head table guests afforded Captain Commanding and Mrs. Joseph S. Zareiko to meet the President and Trustees of the Society before dinner.

The head table was artistically arranged; a perfect setting for an outstanding dinner. Both LTC and Mrs. Zareiko were introduced as representatives of the A&HAC prior to the speaking portion of the evening and it was quite apparent that our Company was held in high esteem by the officers and friends of the Boston Marine Society.

MAJOR GENERAL VINCENT P. COYNE DEDICATION CEREMONY

18 May 1974

On Saturday, 18 May, a Drill Hall was dedicated in memory of MG Vincent P. Coyne at the National Guard Armory, Fall River. General Coyne was the former 104th Brigade Commander, Commandant of The Massachusetts Military Academy, and a life member of our Company.

Many senior members of the Massachusetts National Guard, civic leaders, and friends attended the dedication. Our Company was represented by the Captain Commanding, LTC Joseph S. Zareiko, and the Adjutant, LT George E. Peznola.

THE CAPTAIN'S FAREWELL ADDRESS ARMORY, FANEUIL HALL

28 May 1974

Whether we wish to admit it or not is immaterial — but each one of us, in his own particular way, is an individualist. Some may sway with the current, irrespective of its directions, others may set a course and strive for its completion head-on, while still others may establish goals and purposes but rely on decision-making at the time that the need arises. This was the approach which guided the Captain this past year in fulfilling his promise to represent you — which has been done. To say that the Captain can go through the year without problems is to say that one can go through life without crossing the street.

It need not be repeated that every inch of the way during this past year, the constantly present desire to serve each and every member of this Company was always in the forefront. Oftentimes, it was not the simplest way, nor the most expedient — but it was the only way that the Captain has been able to satisfy his intention for fair play in a democratic manner. It was not a year of promises. It was a year of accomplishments.

Even though the Captain was never a scholar of Shakespeare it, nevertheless, seems appropriate to quote from the Bard of Avon's The Tempest — "...what's past is prologue. . ." To elaborate, although the Ancients' calendar year is approaching its finality, the passing of the year is only the beginning of many years to come and it would be wise to reflect, from time to time, that nothing is as permanent as change itself.

Throughout the year, as a result of a carefully Appointed Commissioned Staff and Noncommissioned Staff, blended with the Company's Elected Commissioned Staff and Elected Sergeants of Infantry and Artillery, the Company added its accomplishments to those recorded in previous years. These accomplishments were products of diligent dedication, loyalty with no reservation, and enthusiasm unparalleled. Everyone involved in this administration performed in a most exemplary manner, with emphasis on outstanding participation throughout the year. A special tribute must be given to all who attended the 30 funerals of our departed Comrades. The attendance at the services was most gratifying.

First Lieutenant Ernest J. Montilio and Second Lieutenant Robert D. Murphy made themselves available throughout the year and contributed more than ordinarily expected from Officers in their respective positions.

Their Lieutenants' Party set a new standard of accomplishment — one which is so important to the social life of our organization since it is the only event which allows our ladies to join us and be part of our Company.

The suggestions received from the Chief of Staff, Past Commander Ralph J. DeStefano, were appreciated, particularly for his interest in advising the then Captain-designate. Because of his illness, which is apt to descend on every one of us without warning, it prevented him from being able to give more of his aid.

The Adjutant, Lieutenant George E. Peznola, has without any doubt whatsoever, fulfilled his responsibilities precisely, meticulously, and completely. Through his dedication as the Adjutant, the Company can rightfully be proud to have had such a loyal Ancient on the Staff who devoted his all for the good of the Company.

The unsung and oftentimes unnoticed Officers, because their work was done behind the scenes, include the Quartermaster, Captain Joseph A. Milano; the Paymaster, Captain Joseph F. Kreas assisted by Lieutenant Frank W. Reid; the Commissary, Major Leo E. Bourdon; and the Personnel Adjutant and Clerk, Lieutenant Ralph L. Garrett. Their combined efforts were an important part of our organization.

It was inevitable that the Surgeon, Captain G. Guy Grande, ably assisted by Lieutenant Peter J. Ferrino and Lieutenant Dominic J. Letty established a self-propelled challenge of offering their professional services not only on the Fall Field Day Tour of Duty on an around-the-clock basis, but also extended the same exerted effort on the Old Guard Ball trip.

The exacting balance of legal interpretation was perceptively managed by the Judge Advocate, Colonel Paul A. Carbone, in a manner that befits the practice of law at its best.

The most unforgettable Fall Shoot in the history of the Company was brought about by the extraordinary diligence of the Ordnance Officer, Lieutenant Frank J. D'Arrigo, who assured each participant that he would receive a magnificent trophy which would be a conversation piece for years to come. As all of you know, this was done.

The countless ways in which Colonel Albert P. Dragone, Aide to the Captain, performed, was one of tremendous value during the entire year and his dedication to duty was truly appreciated.

A special thanks to the two Chaplains, General Laurence M. Brock and Colonel Frank J. Bauer for their spiritual guidance with the touch of understanding that is indigenous to the heart of every Ancient.

The Wing Adjutants, Commander Herbert Tonry and Captain Robert F. Emens; the Medical Officer, Lieutenant Romulus DeNicola; the Liaison Officer, Lieutenant David Sherman; and the Public Information Officer, Lieutenant John A. Pacella, provided their special talents which brought credit and dignity to the Company.

It must be admitted that the Sergeants of 1973-74 deserve the highest accolades for their eagerness to serve, their active and enthusiastic participation, and their ability to perform as a team of strength and satisfaction to every Ancient and, in particular, to their very proud Captain.

Each member of the Noncommissioned Staff is complimented on his assignment with an extra measure of appreciation to the Bearers and Guards of the Colors. Their presence during our many parades and, in particular, the two parades and the memorial ceremony in Hamburg, provided the elegance of a flawless gem.

The unusual circumstances whereby 40 applications for membership to our Company had been accumulated over the past few years necessitated the need for remedial action by the Membership Committee. Under the most capable direction of the Chairman, Colonel Arthur J. Swett, assisted by a thoroughly competent Staff, every application was acted upon and the situation was rectified. Let us never belittle the importance of the Membership Committee.

In looking around the Armory, it is self-evident that the Military Museum and Library Committee, under the Chairmanship of Captain Norbert S. Unger, has contributed greatly to our pride of being headquartered in Faneuil Hall.

The Executive Secretary, Colonel Lewis W. Whittemore, is to be commended for his contribution to this year's administration, by utilizing his talents and experience in providing continuity in a methodical manner.

Sergeant Sidney M. Abbott, the Curator, is another unsung stalwart member of the Company who, through his interest in the history of the Ancients, has gained immeasurable esteem by all who have had the pleasure of listening to his talks.

As is the case in many instances, the best is oftentimes held for the last. Although not registered as Ancients in our membership rolls, by name, their constant physical presence and attentiveness to our needs throughout the year dictates that a special acknowledgement be accorded to the two men who make our facilities available to us. The incomparable friendliness and interest shown by Superintendent Donald McDonald, and Martin Connelly has been noticeable to all of us throughout the year.

It is with pride and sincerity that the Captain can honestly state that his unselfish care and concern for the good of the Company was constantly present in his persevering devotion to improve the status quo which, as all of you know, is the bane of any organization. Life in any form needs new vitality and stimulus if it is to flourish. There is no reason why this should be lacking in our organization. We have the men with outstanding qualifications to instill a never-ending supply of new strength and determination to make the Ancient and Honorable Artillery Company not only be referred to as the oldest chartered military organization in the Western Hemisphere, but the greatest. The salient point in this challenge is for all of us to exercise compassion, humility, and synergistic understanding.

Gentlemen, the Chair directs the Adjutant to return the gavel to the Executive Secretary. The gavel has not been used even once during the entire year. This is a tribute to each one of you who, through your respect for the office of the Chair, made it possible for the Captain to conduct all meetings with dignity of the highest order.

Thank you, fellow Ancients, for this great honor.

NORTHEASTERN UNIVERSITY ROTC AWARDS

30 May 1974

LT George E. Peznola, Adjutant, represented the Company at the Northeastern University ROTC Awards Ceremony, Dockser Hall on the University campus in Boston.

Cadet Captain Roland LaPointe was presented a Paul Revere bowl for outstanding Academic Achievement and Cadet Kenneth J. Grogan was presented a Paul Revere bowl for Military Excellence.

BG LAWRENCE F. CAREW RETIREMENT

31 May 1974

After a distinguished military record of 50 years, BG Lawrence F. Carew was honored by federal, state, and city officials in the presence of his family, relatives, and an unusually large number of his close friends and associates.

A military review at Camp Curtis Guild by the Cadet Corps of The Massachusetts Military Academy highlighted the retirement ceremony followed by a lavish buffet and refreshments.

A number of presentations were made to General Carew in tribute to his dedication of a half century of service. The Captain Commanding was pleased that such a large number of Ancients were present to demonstrate their respect to a fellow Ancient.

MASSACHUSETTS MARITIME ACADEMY COMMENCEMENT EXERCISES

1 June 1974

On 1 June 1974, Lieutenant and Mrs. Norb Unger, Jr. represented the Company at the 131st Massachusetts Maritime Academy Commencement Exercises conducted on the campus of the Academy at Buzzards Bay.

A luncheon preceded the graduation and awards exercises. Cadet Timothy J. McSharry, majoring in Marine Transportation, was presented the A&HAC Paul Revere bowl for his outstanding leadership ability.

The A&HAC Award was presented to the Most Valuable Pistol Marksman at the graduation exercises of the U.S. Air Force Academy, Colorado.

SERGEANTS' ACTIVITIES

Serving as a Sergeant 1973-74 was a rewarding privilege.

We, twelve, through our initial and deliberate teamwork attitude, resolved that our sincere desire to serve would be our motivating force. This attitude prevailed throughout the year and it was gratifying to know that our Captain's faith in our integrity remained from the very beginning of our office to the very end of our term.

Our introduction was on June Day, 1973. After being installed in our official capacity on Boston Common, we provided refreshments and entertainment at our hospitality suite at the Copley Plaza Hotel.

In behalf of the Sergeants, 1st SGT Frederick L. Shaw, Jr. presented an award of $100 to the Honor Cadet, Robert W. Hoyer at the MMA graduation exercises at Wakefield High School on 30 June.

On 18 July, an all-day outing was held at the Colonial Inn, Lynnfield, where the Ancients participated in various sport and social activities. In the evening, a sumptuous dinner was served with appropriate entertainment.

In keeping with the Fall Field Day Tour of Duty to Hamburg, Germany, we decided to hold our Bon Voyage Party at the Vienna Hofbrau, Boston on 12 September. It was evident by the numbers present that we had again succeeded in serving the members. A most satisfying array of German foods was found on the buffet table. The apparent conviviality was supplemented by an excellent variety of entertainment. It was pleasing to notice that even after the scheduled program had ended, a large group remained and continued to enjoy a most memorable evening.

As the baggage was brought to Faneuil Hall on 28 September for subsequent loading onto our Pan Am charter to Hamburg, the Sergeants presented each participant a huge beer tankard as the Sergeants' souvenir of the forthcoming trip.

In Hamburg, while on the 336th FFDTD, the Sergeants hosted the participants at the Zillertal on the Reeperbuhn, St. Pauli district, preceded by a lavish cocktail party at the Hotel Inter-Continental. A convoy of taxicabs transported the Ancients to the largest beer hall in the city. An abundance of German foods, beer in huge steins, and singing to the tunes of a great brass band with the Ancients wearing typical German headgear, provided a setting and atmosphere to be remembered for a long time to come.

Oberstleutnant and Mrs. Jobst A. von Schack of Hamburg, Germany, with the Captain at A&HAC Headquarters during visit to Boston, December 1973.

A special party was planned at Faneuil Hall on 12 December in conjunction with the U.S. Marine Corps Reserve to benefit the "Toys for Tots" drive. The Ancients outdid themselves and all of us were very pleased to know that many youngsters would have a very merry Christmas which otherwise would have been empty and toyless. The Sergeants were honored to be the recipients of a citation presented by the U.S. Marine Corps Reserve. We were delighted to receive Colonel and Mrs. Jobst A. von Schack of Hamburg, Germany, at the Armory on this occasion. They were visiting Boston as guests of our Captain Commanding and Mrs. Joseph S. Zareiko.

The turbotrain trip to New York City for the Old Guard Ball on 25-27 January 1974, provided the Sergeants a wonderful opportunity to host the participants with specially prepared box lunches and continuous refreshments. In addition, a beautiful corsage was presented to each lady, compliments of the Sergeants. On the return trip, sandwiches and drinks were served, adding a final touch to a most enjoyable weekend for the Ancients and their ladies in New York City.

The Farewell Party for the 1973-74 Sergeants was held at the Marriott Motor Hotel, Newton, on 9 May. Attendance was well over 500, which to us was completely satisfying. It was an all-out dinner, with an abundance of refreshments, entertainment and a great opportunity for all to socialize and to allow us, once again, to show how much we appreciated the fine support received. Each one in attendance received a boxed replica of an old flintlock type pistol as a remembrance of the Sergeants in addition to a copy of the Sergeants' Yearbook, one of the largest ever printed.

Drumhead Election, Boston Common, June Day 1974.

When we were relieved of our office on June Day 1974, we left our positions with a sense of unexplainable satisfaction. The challenge of serving as a group of Sergeants was terminated, but it was also, in a sense, only the beginning of a better understanding of our Company for each one of us personally. We were justifiably proud of our record of attendance at all Ancients' activities, military and social.

In conclusion, it is our wish to convey a deep and respected thanks to our Captain, LTC Joseph S. Zareiko, who through his compassion and loyalty has left a new standard of leadership. We also thank the Officers and members for their tremendous support of all of our activities and to convey our gratitude for the opportunity to contribute, in some measure, to the strength and pride of our Company.

REPORT OF THE MILITARY MUSEUM AND LIBRARY COMMITTEE

CPT Norbert S. Unger, Chm
LT Thomas J. Dowd
SGT James C. Bayley, Secy
LT Homer M. Shellenberger, Jr.
COL William P. Koughan

In accordance with Rules and Regulations, Article IX, Section 6, the yearly report is submitted.

The following items were received and acknowledged from 4 June 1973 to 3 June 1974:

Sword of Thomas Smith on permanent loan from Norman P. Smith of Newburyport, Mass.

Belt Buckle of Charlestown Militia from Edward F. Bowers of Hull, Mass.

Painting of President John F. Kennedy from SGT Louis F. Puci'lo.

Book — "Scott's Militia Tactics" by Pierce Darrow. This was from the second edition of same and published in Hartford, Conn. in 1821. The donor was Wayne E. Yost of Riverside, Calif.

Old China Plate with reproduction of Faneuil Hall. Age estimated at 100 years. Donated by Albion B. Stone of New Bedford, Mass.

Dutch Naval Officers Ceremonial Sword, circa 1880. The donor was JAAP, RIESBOS, Amsterdam, the Netherlands through the courtesy of Mr. Nauss of Newton, Mass.

Gift of a Copper Beer Mug from the Sergeants 1973-74.

Four Plaques from Germany received during the 336th FFDTD, and a Pewter Paul Revere Tankard (Captain's 336th FFDTD gift), from Captain Commanding Joseph S. Zareiko.

Table and Twelve Chairs, gift from the Sergeants 1972-73, for the meeting room of the current and future Sergeants.

The following actions were taken through this Committee:

1. Armory floors were sanded and refinished.
2. Benches restored. Originally, 48 benches were purchased in 1898. Over the years, due to breakage, only 33 were being used. By salvaging the broken benches, we now have 40. These benches are in "like new" condition and worth, conservatively, $500 each.
3. An electronic alarm system has been installed to protect the possessions of the Ancient and Honorable Artillery Company of Massachusetts.
4. Various repairs to selected picture frames.
5. Rearrangement of certain pictures of Past Commanders to make the recent ones more visible.

The Century Box was inspected by CPT Norbert S. Unger and COL William P. Koughan, 28 May, at the Mass. Avenue Branch of the State Street Bank and Trust Company. It was found to be in good order and the seals intact. The Sewell Ferrule and valuable volumes in the safe deposit box of the same bank were found to be in good order.

All museum items have been inventoried and the Committee wishes to thank COL Lewis W. Whittemore for his invaluable assistance in this task.

During 1973-74, and before the installation of our electronic safeguards, the Armory was broken into and a collection of medals and ribbons was stolen. All except two medals, the Army Medal of Honor and the Air Force Medal of Honor, were recovered. There is still reason to believe, according to the Boston Police, that these, too, will be recovered. The culprit, who broke in after the Armory was locked for the night, was a 12- or 13-year old youth.

A second incident happened during exhibition hours. Two valuable pistols, both of Civil War vintage, were removed from our glass-covered displays:

1. A Pepper Box Pistol owned by John Wilkes Booth.
2. Pocket Flint Lock owned by CPT Isaac Frink.

IN MEMORIAM CAPTAIN FRANK G. VOLPE

Born 10 May 1883
Enrolled 4 April 1932
Captain Commanding 1943-44
Died 22 May 1974

Captain Volpe was enrolled in the Ancient and Honorable Artillery Company of Massachusetts on 4 April 1932 and served for 42 years. He was elected Second Lieutenant in 1939, First Lieutenant in 1941, and elected Captain Commanding in 1943, serving with distinction in that capacity. He remained active in Ancients' affairs and served as Secretary to the Society of Past Commanders until his death, one of only five secretaries since the organization of the Society of Past Commanders in 1890.

Captain Volpe was a very successful lawyer and served his State in numerous capacities. He was First Assistant District Attorney under District Attorney Warren Bishop from 1930 until 1936, during which time he prosecuted all of the capital crimes tried in Middlesex County with extraordinary success. Subsequently he was appointed First Assistant Attorney General by the then Attorney General Robert Bushnell in 1940 and served in that capacity for four years. Thereafter, he returned to private practice and was also a very successful businessman on the side, being President of the Somerville Machine & Foundry Co. During the later years of his life he served as Conciliator in the Superior Court, having been appointed as such by the Superior Court Justices. This position required him to review all pending tort cases to see if the parties could reach an agreement as to liability and damages prior to trial. He was very successful in this endeavor, saving the Commonwealth a great deal of money in that every case in which he effected a settlement did not have to be tried with its attendant expenses.

Captain Volpe was an inspiration to all who came in contact with him and he will be sorely missed by his comrade Ancients and his many friends.

IN MEMORIAM
COLONEL LEO C. GRAHAM

Born 2 August 1896
Enrolled 3 May 1954
Captain Commanding 1966-67
Died 2 June 1974

Past Commander Leo C. Graham, the 257th Captain of the Ancient and Honorable Artillery Company of Massachusetts, was born in South Boston, educated in Boston schools and Bentley School of Accounting. During World War I, he served in the United States Navy. Upon his return to Massachusetts, he started his business career as an employee of Bigelow, Kennard Company, retail jewelers, and steadily advanced in the business to the position of President and majority stockholder.

After being enrolled in the Ancient and Honorable Artillery Company, he became a very active member. He served as Sergeant of Infantry (1956), member of the Military Museum and Library Committee (1959), Aide to the Captain (1960), Second Lieutenant (1962), First Lieutenant (1964), and then Captain (1966). He had energy and enthusiasm for his work and served the Company with distinction and honor throughout his entire career of twenty years as an Ancient.

He was an active leader in military, business, and civic activities. He served many years as Military Aide to Governors Furcolo, Volpe, and Sargent. He served as President of The Navy League of Boston, as President of the Boston Jewelers Club and, at the time of his passing, was the Boston Representative of The Smoke, Fire, and Burn Foundation, Inc.

He married Mary Riordan of Charlestown in 1925. She also served in uniform in the United State Navy. Upon her death, her flag-draped casket in the Church of the Infant Jesus at Chestnut Hill gave eloquent testimony to her life of service to her God and Country. Colonel Graham was survived by his five children, Leo C., Jr (enrolled in the A&HAC, 22 May 1967), Jeanne, John J., Nancy, Richard, and six grandchildren.

Past Commander Graham will long be remembered.

CAPTAIN'S DINNER

2 June 1974

On Sunday evening 2 June, prior to "Ancients' Day in Boston", His Excellency Francis W. Sargent, Governor of the Commonwealth and Commander in Chief of the A&HAC, hosted a farewell dinner at the Copley Plaza Hotel for the Captain Commanding, LTC Joseph S. Zareiko.

MG Dino DiCarlo, in his capacity as Chief Aide, represented the Governor. Informality prevailed throughout and the noticeable lack of formal speeches provided an enjoyable evening of relaxation prior to the excitement of the following day, June Day.

ANNIVERSARY SERMON

"THE VOCATION OF THE AMERICAN SOLDIER"

CHAPLAIN (COLONEL) FRANK J. BAUER

For ten years running — from 1962 to 1971 — I've served as the preacher in this annual June Day church service. But last year and the year before, I was spared those agonizing days in May, searching for a suitable and timely topic, for other chaplains — and never any with higher rank in the military than the one and never any in higher place in our esteem than the other — had this assignment.

But, quite obviously, the assignment is mine again, and, frankly, I welcome it, for I had no difficulty with a subject this year. It's a subject I've been wanting to talk about for a number of years already, but it's a subject which — while we, as a nation, were engaged in an unpopular conflict — was difficult to discuss. But before I tell you what that topic is, faithfully true to the annoying custom of preachers, I'm going to tell you what I'm not going to talk about.

I'm not going to talk about Watergate, although I thought I came up with a rather suitable topic, suggested by one of my former June Day sermons. That June Day, sadly, my topic was, "The Assassination of the President." This June Day my topic could have been, sadly again, "The Assassination of the Presidency," and we could have spent our time identifying the assassin, or the assassins!

Nor am I going to review, as had been done before, the year closing in the history of the Ancient and Honorable Artillery Company of Massachusetts. Except to express my appreciation to the Captain Commanding, Lieutenant Colonel Joseph S. Zareiko, for inviting me on his Fall Field Day Tour of Duty to the City and the State of Hamburg, Germany, and so giving me the opportunity of preaching — on the Festival of Harvest — in one of the oldest churches in Europe, die Evangelische Kirche Sancti Michaeli, the Lutheran Church of Saint Michael, whose tall spire — with the largest outdoor clock in the world — is the symbol of Hamburg and the first landmark to be seen when sailing into the harbor.

Nor yet am I going to make any reference to the bicentennial of our nation in 1975-76. As one who firmly believes that clergymen who have Christmas carols sung in their churches during the Advent Season and Easter hymns during Holy Week should be drawn and quartered, I could hardly consider such anticipation.

But my topic is one, as already said, I've been wanting to talk about for quite a while, and one for which an article that appeared recently in the conservative religious periodical, "Christianity Today", by the Professor of English and Humanities at the Pennsylvania State University in Middletown, provides an appropriate introduction. That professor is a woman, Nancy M. Tischler, who has a Ph.D. from the University of Arkansas. The title of her article is a question: "Onward, Christian Soldiers?". And in it she addresses herself to the notion — held by many people and by some churches today — that a Christian cannot bear arms and be a soldier, accounting for the fact that the great old hymn isn't being sung very often in our churches anymore. But this notion, she insists, is most unfair to the individuals who serve in the military, and points out that it receives no support from our blessed Lord, who, at the beginning of His ministry commended a Roman centurion for greater faith than He had found in all of Israel; who, at the end of His life, received this grand confession from another centurion standing under the cross, "Truly this was . . . a righteous Man. . . (and) the Son of God" (St. Matthew 27:54; St. Luke 23:47); and whose forerunner, John the Baptist, when asked by some soldiers during his ministry of preparing men's hearts for the coming of the Prince of Peace, "And what shall we do?", did not tell them to lay down their arms and take off their uniforms, but answered, "Do violence to no man, neither accuse any falsely; and be content with your wages" (St. Luke 3:14). So in behalf of all Christian men and women who serve in the military, or ever have, or ever will, my subject is "The Vocation of the American Soldier." This subject will be presented negatively and positively, stating, in three instances, the incorrect estimation of the American soldier's vocation, explaining the criticism he suffers and the denunciation he endures, and then the correct estimation in demonstration of the truth that it is possible to be both a Christian and a soldier.

In the first place, many today say that the soldier makes war. In years gone by soldiers in combat uniform leaving stateside camps for overseas were confronted at the gates by marchers carrying signs, "Make peace, not war." And what weekend soldier traveling on the highway in a jeep or truck hasn't been greeted by youngsters in passing cars with the two-fingered "V" sign for peace, intended, of course, to make him ashamed of his uniform and weapons.

But making war is not the vocation of the American soldier. The vocation of the American soldier is rather restoring peace. When the American soldier appears on a battlefield, as was the case in Vietnam, as was the case in Korea, as was the case in World War II, and as was the case in World War I, there is a war already going on, and the purpose of his presence there is to put an end to the fighting and to restore peace. The vocation of the American soldier is not to make war but to restore peace.

Secondly, the vocation of the American soldier is not to gather spoils but to suffer. Looting, pillaging, conquering, subjecting, enslaving — these, in the minds of many, are the pictures they have of soldiers and of the governments who put them in the field. And, it must be admitted, this has, sadly, been a true picture in many instances.

But, I submit, this is not a true picture of the American soldier nor of the United States. Who ever heard of an American soldier coming home a rich man because of stolen contraband, and what new territory has our nation ever gained after any conflict? The vocation of the American soldier is not to gather spoils but to suffer. The proof of that — all the American people saw a year ago last winter as they watched, on television, and with tears and a lump in the throat if they were like me, the arrivals home of our prisoners of war who had suffered, and suffered hard, and suffered long. And proof of that are the more than 83,000 veterans who are patients, on any given day, in the 171 Veterans Administration Hospitals throughout our country. The vocation of the American soldier is not to gather spoils, but to suffer.

Finally, the vocation of the American soldier is not to kill but to die. Thomas Carlyle, the Scottish genius and world-famous historian, who tried to mediate the Franco-Prussian War in the 1870s, said that long ago. But many people do not believe this. When the trial of Lieutenant William L. Calley, Jr. was going on in 1971, accused of massacring “no less than 22 civilians” in the hamlet of My Lai in South Vietnam, someone said to me, “You see, you have murderers in the Army.” and I said, “Yes, we do, but that’s only because we have murderers everywhere else, too — in all our states and in all our cities.” But William Calley is a dishonorable American soldier who has been stripped of his rank and separated from the service and whose appeals in civil courts from a life imprisonment sentence by a court martial are being opposed by our nation’s highest military court, the United States Court of Military Appeals. The army does not honor those who wantonly kill; it honors those who die, for the vocation of the American soldier is not to kill, but to die. Painful and unjust as it is to have the case of the National Guardsmen who fired the shots at Kent State University in Ohio four years ago reopened, it nevertheless underscores the truth of this contention. Alan Seeger knew that in World War I when he wrote, “I have a rendezvous with Death.” And so did John McRae, who wrote, “In Flanders fields the poppies blow, Between the crosses, row on row,” for they were both casualties.

So, to sum up: the vocation of the American soldier is not to kill, but to die. The vocation of the American soldier is not to gather spoils, but to suffer. The vocation of the American soldier is not to make war, but to restore peace. A godly, noble, glorious vocation. And, if begun, pursued, and concluded with faith in Him and in His sacrificial death upon the cross, who said, “Greater love hath no man than this, that a man lay down his life for his friends” (St. John 15:13); a vocation with an everlasting reward in heaven. So, whenever He calls us who wear the uniform to serve, we can answer, “Yes.” Indeed, since He is our Lord and our Master and the great Captain of our salvation, that “Yes” might better be, “Yes, Sir!”

ANNIVERSARY ODE

THE SLEEP OF ETERNITY

LIEUTENANT COLONEL JOSEPH S. ZAREIKO

Captain Commanding

We are here today to pay tribute and homage
To those who during the year have passed away.
They left a space in our ranks and files
And within our hearts, sadness and dismay.

Their laughter and happiness of being an Ancient
Is a warm and cherished memory to us all.
Their comradeship and friendliness will forever remain,
During winter, spring, summer and fall.

In this, the hallowed house of prayer and worship,
Let us rekindle their memories of yesteryear.
Their tender compassion and true understanding
Is a memorial remaining, so lasting and so dear.

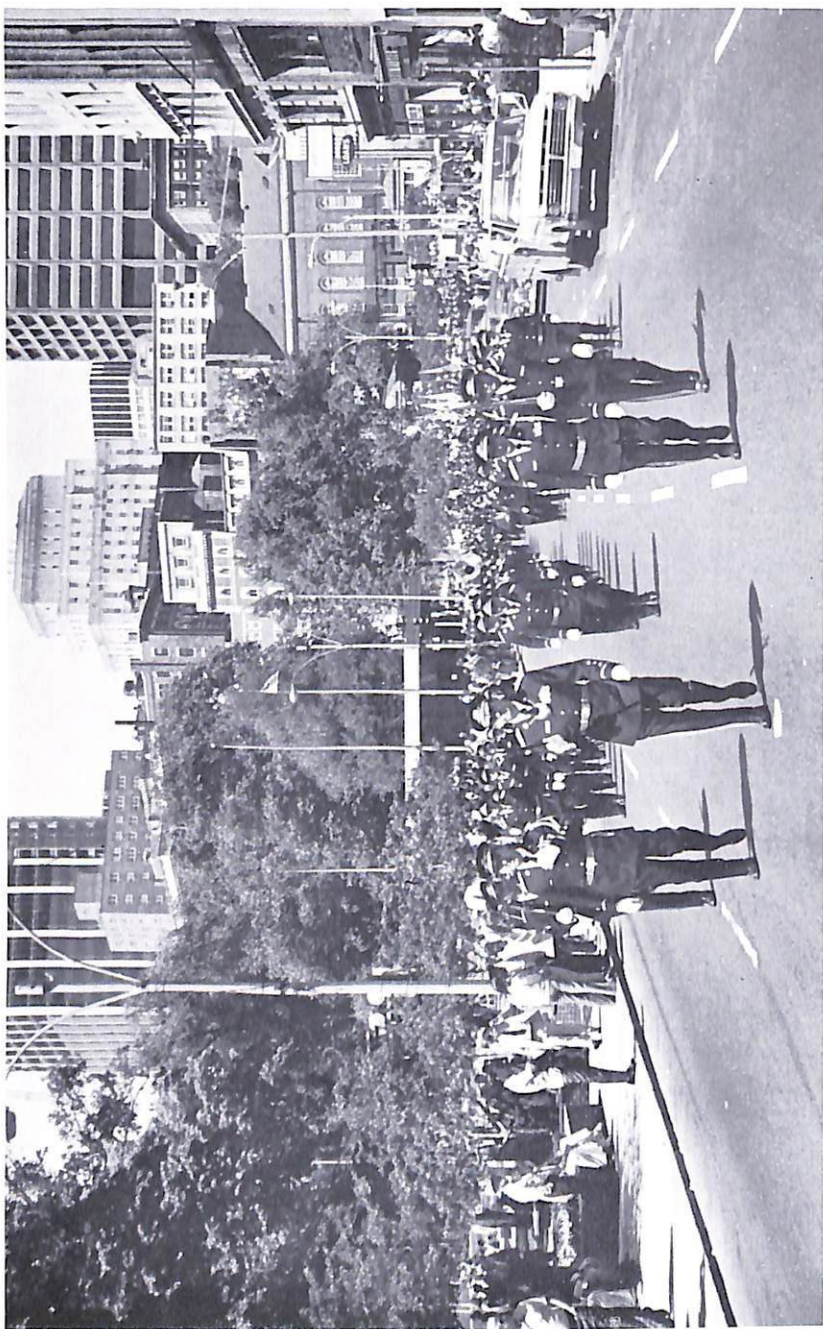

To say that life must continue on
Is to accept direction from above.
But how may one overlook the sorrow
When the sadness and loss is one of love.

The reading of the Death Roll is a ghostly shadow
Of living men who are with us no more.
Through their peace and tranquility of eternal rest
May our hearts be offered to them, by our corps.

The spirit of unity and warmth of kindness
Should strengthen our lives and by God be blessed,
For deep within us, we are grateful to know
That our departed have earned their soldiers' rest.

Why must we mortal men so dependent be,
That when the last call is heard and heeded,
We feel the pain of anguish and despair
And only consoled when we know we are needed.

Their journey across the threshold of beyond
Has been guided by our Father Almighty,
With our full knowledge and total awareness
That they have been rewarded the sleep of eternity.

COMMISSIONING THE NEW OFFICERS
1974-75

ADDRESSING THE ADJUTANT GENERAL
THE ADJUTANT SAID

Sir, I have the pleasure to announce the results of the Three Hundred and Thirty-Seventh Drumhead Election:

For Captain, Captain Robert L. Marr of Boston.
For First Lieutenant, Lieutenant Commander John F. Cremens of Cambridge.
For Second Lieutenant, Lieutenant Colonel James A. Lynch, Jr. of Medford.

Captain Zareiko awaits your wish to surrender his Commission.

REPLY OF ADJUTANT GENERAL VARTANIAN

This was a rapid election. We now await the resignation of your current Commander. Will you give him my compliments and ask him to come forward.

REMARKS OF CAPTAIN JOSEPH S. ZAREIKO ON RESIGNING HIS COMMISSION

Sir, in accordance with the customs of the Ancient and Honorable Artillery Company, I hereby surrender the symbols of office of the Commanding Officer for the year 1973-74.

(Hands halberd to the Adjutant General)
(Gorget unclasped by Aide to the Governor)

REPLY OF ADJUTANT GENERAL VARTANIAN

Captain Commanding, I wish to express the feelings of the entire Ancient and Honorable Artillery Company in appreciation for a job well done. I look forward to the continued greatness of the Company in the ensuing years and I congratulate you, sir, on your year of accomplishment. You may be dismissed.

REMARKS OF ADJUTANT GENERAL VARTANIAN
ON COMMISSIONING
CAPTAIN-ELECT ROBERT L. MARR

Congratulations, Captain Marr, on your election to command of this great and honorable Company. I know that the ensuing year will continue to bring greatness and that, under your leadership and your efforts, we will see all of your goals achieved, appropriately, during this year of the bicentennial, all of which will bear fruit for this great and glorious Company.

(Receives halberd from the Adjutant General)
(Gorget clasped about neck by Aide to the Governor)

REPLY OF CAPTAIN MARR

Thank you, General Vartanian. It is a great privilege to be able to serve as Captain Commanding of this great organization. I accept the assignment with pride and pleasure, and I pledge to serve this Company to the best of my ability. Thank you, General.

REMARKS OF FIRST LIEUTENANT ERNEST J. MONTILIO ON RESIGNING HIS COMMISSION

It has been a great pleasure and an honor to serve this Company as First Lieutenant. I hereby resign my commission.

(Hands halberd to the Adjutant General)

REPLY OF ADJUTANT GENERAL VARTANIAN

Lieutenant Montilio, you are a typical example of the outstanding leadership to be found within the ranks of the Ancient and Honorable Artillery Company. Although you are now about to sit back in your chair for a little while, I am sure that you will be back some year, because you represent that which the Ancient and Honorable Artillery Company truly stands for.

REMARKS OF ADJUTANT GENERAL VARTANIAN
ON COMMISSIONING
FIRST LIEUTENANT-ELECT JOHN F. CREMENS

The new First Lieutenant of the Ancient and Honorable Artillery Company is a dedicated, extraordinary and truly outstanding gentleman. You are a part of those building blocks which make the Ancient and Honorable Artillery Company such a successful organization. I know that you will carry on with distinction and great dedication.

(Receives halberd from the Adjutant General)

REPLY OF FIRST LIEUTENANT CREMENS

Thank you very much, General Vartanian. I accept this commission. I consider it a very singular honor to be of service to this great organization during the bicentennial, which commemorates the anniversary of the year in which the freedom of this great country first began. Thank you very much.

REMARKS OF SECOND LIEUTENANT ROBERT D. MURPHY ON RESIGNING HIS COMMISSION

General Vartanian, it has been a privilege for me to serve this Commonwealth and the Ancient and Honorable Artillery Company. I now resign my commission.

(Hands halberd to the Adjutant General)

REPLY OF ADJUTANT GENERAL VARTANIAN

Lieutenant Murphy, I have known you but a short time, but I know that you represent the new breed within the ranks of the Ancient and Honorable Artillery Company in the quality of dedicated work which is being accomplished by the Company. I know that you will carry on the work within the Company and that you will bring greatness to the Ancients in the years to come. Congratulations, sir.

REMARKS OF ADJUTANT GENERAL VARTANIAN ON COMMISSIONING SECOND LIEUTENANT-ELECT JAMES A. LYNCH, JR.

Lieutenant Lynch, I commend you upon your election as the new Second Lieutenant of the Ancient and Honorable Artillery Company of Massachusetts. Son of an illustrious father, in a family of great honor and dignity whom I have known over a long period of time. I am honored to offer you this commission as Second Lieutenant of the Ancient and Honorable Artillery Company. Congratulations.

(Receives halberd from the Adjutant General)

REPLY OF SECOND LIEUTENANT LYNCH

Thank you, General Vartanian. I wish to express my gratitude to the entire membership for their selection. I will do my utmost to merit their trust. Thank you.

336th ANNIVERSARY BANQUET
THE COPLEY PLAZA HOTEL, BOSTON

3 June 1974

CAPTAIN COMMANDING, LTC JOSEPH S. ZAREIKO, Presiding

1638 Headquarters 1973
Ancient and Honorable Artillery Company
of Massachusetts
Armory, Faneuil Hall, Boston

Lieutenant Colonel Joseph S. Zareiko
Captain Commanding

We are honored and sincerely grateful for your presence this evening on the occasion of the 336th Anniversary of the Ancient and Honorable Artillery Company, chartered in 1638.

The legacy of our Company has been and is being recorded on the pages of history with ever-increasing enthusiasm and determination to uphold and maintain traditions with meaningful purpose.

I welcome this occasion to extend my personal thanks to each one of our distinguished guests for his endorsement of our principles by parading with us this afternoon and by participating at our Banquet this evening.

In addition, the dedication of the 1973-74 Staff by the Elected, and in particular by the Elected Sergeants, the Appointed Commissioned Staff and Appointed Noncommissioned Staff has been unsurpassed in the area of practical understanding, constant perseverance and willing participation. Through cooperation and coordination, the ultimate of a truly democratic year culminated in many fine accomplishments, spearheaded by a heretofore unparalleled Fall Field Day Tour of Duty to Hamburg, Germany, during which the Third Panzer Division simulated a spectacular battle of Leopard tanks firing live ammunition for the exclusive review of our members.

This Anniversary would not be complete unless a special tribute of respect be offered in the memory of our former members who, because of their responding to the last call, are not with us in body but will never be away from us in spirit.

The privilege of being the Captain Commanding of the Ancient and Honorable Artillery Company is surpassed only by my hope and prayer that my efforts and dedication during this past year have been received and accepted by the membership of the Company as having fulfilled all the expectations of the motto of our Company, "Facta non Verba", Deeds not Words.

LTC ZAREIKO:

Gentlemen, welcome to the 336th Anniversary of the Ancient and Honorable Artillery Company of Massachusetts.

Please rise and remain standing for the Invocation and for the First and Second Regular Toasts.

I call on Brigadier General Laurence M. Brock, S.J. for the Invocation.

FATHER BROCK:

We give Thee thanks, O Almighty God, for these Thy gifts which we are about to receive from Thy Bounty, through Christ our Lord, Amen.

In the name of the Father, and of the Son, and of the Holy Ghost.

LTC ZAREIKO:

Please remain standing and give your attention to the Adjutant, Lieutenant George E. Peznola.

LT PEZNOLA:

The First Regular Toast:

UNITED STATES OF AMERICA

Land of freedom and hope, forever eager to achieve greatness but always mindful to extend a helping hand to those in need.

[AMERICAN NATIONAL ANTHEM]

LT ZAREIKO:

Please remain standing and give your attention to the Adjutant.

LT PEZNOLA:

The Second Regular Toast:

FEDERAL REPUBLIC OF GERMANY

Old in history, young in vigor, technologically progressive with prideful perfection.

[GERMAN NATIONAL ANTHEM]

LTC ZAREIKO:

To respond to the Toast to the Federal Republic of Germany, I call on the Consul General, Federal Republic of Germany, Doctor Otto G. Burchard.

DOCTOR BURCHARD:

Honored invited Guests, Members of your great Ancient and Honorable Artillery Company, Friends.

I am pleased and deeply moved, very honored, to be invited here this evening as the first representative of the New Republic of Germany.

It was such a great thrill for me to hear my National Anthem this year, the year when the New Republic of Germany is celebrating its 25th anniversary as a German Republic.

I thank you, very much.

[Applause]

LTC ZAREIKO:

Thank you, Doctor Burchard. You honor us with your presence.

Gentlemen, I would like to introduce the Head Table Guests.

On my left and on your right:

The Adjutant, Lieutenant George E. Peznola.

The Consul General of Denmark, The Honorable Norman von Rosenvinge.

LT PEZNOLA:

The Third Regular Toast:

COMMONWEALTH OF MASSACHUSETTS

Bay State of the Nation, the center of New England, rich in tradition and heritage of yesteryear and uniquely endowed with capabilities for the future.

LTC ZAREIKO:

To respond to the Toast to the Commonwealth of Massachusetts, I call on the representative of the Commander in Chief, Governor Francis W. Sargeant. Gentlemen, The Adjutant General of the Commonwealth of Massachusetts, Major General Vahan Vartanian.

MG VARTANIAN:

Gentlemen, this afternoon, I was honored and privileged in behalf of the Commonwealth of Massachusetts to participate in an exchange ceremony involving six distinguished guests. Three of them representing the current complement of the commanding structure of the Ancient and Honorable Artillery Company and three of them representing the new group. These six individuals represented your choice for the management of these outstanding offices.

In 1638, if anybody can think back that far, can you think, in terms of how this organization, this great Company, entwined itself with the Commonwealth of Massachusetts. I know that this organization will continue to move forward, and I know that the Commonwealth will contribute and include its activities with this great Company, and I know that 1975 will bring a great combination of our mutual efforts to insure that, on this occasion, the proceedings will reflect what has been done by this organization for the past 336 years.

I compliment you, gentlemen, all of you, and thank you for being a part of this great Commonwealth of Massachusetts.

[Applause]

LTC ZAREIKO:

Thank you, General Vartanian.

Please give your attention to the Adjutant.

LT PEZNOLA:

The Fourth Regular Toast:

CITY OF BOSTON

Cradle of Liberty, proud of its history and accomplishments, the hub of education, technology and art, the home of the Ancient and Honorable Artillery Company.

LTC ZAREIKO:

To respond to the Toast to the City of Boston, I call on the Deputy Mayor, representing His Honor, the Mayor of the City of Boston, Kevin H. White. Gentlemen, a special friend of mine and yours, The Honorable Edward T. Sullivan.

HON SULLIVAN:

Captain Zareiko, the Honorable Clergy, Distinguished Guests at the Head Table, Members of your great Company. I rise to respond to this traditional Toast with a keen sense of honor in that I am representing the people of the great City of Boston.

On an occasion like this, so rich in history, I have a serious message from your own Bay City of Boston which has had for almost 350 years the benefit of a deep sense of security arising from the presence of a distinguished military outfit in our midst.

I would like to talk to this group so steeped in history about something of great historical importance and that is that Boston is soon to celebrate its bicentennial of the American Revolution. It is expected that as many as nine million people may descend onto this area. They will be celebrating the 200th anniversary of the war, so our first problem will be to take care of these nine million people. Our first line of defense will be out in the perimeter of the City where we are setting up our tourists' booths, and at that point, we are going to give out fact maps and some of them will show Boston as being located in Fall River. Others will show Boston as being located in Woonsocket, Rhode Island. Still others will show Boston as located in Portland, Maine. By giving out these maps, alternately, we will divert most of the traffic away from Boston at the perimeter of the City, outside, around Route 128.

For those who get through the first line of defense, and reach the end of the Massachusetts Turnpike, we are going to change the signs, block off some of the exits, so as to divert the stream of traffic westward back over the Massachusetts Turnpike. There will be signs, Boston, straight ahead, beyond Worcester, at which point, many of them will get discouraged.

However, for the actual celebration next year, the concentration will be in Charlestown, where actually a boom is going on now.

[Applause]

Property in Charlestown is really going sky high. The other day, somebody in Charlestown sold the top forty feet of the Bunker Hill Monument to a farmer from Maine as a condominium. He complained that the rooms were very small, but he did have a lovely view. Seriously, the unique feature of this celebration is going to be the Battle of Bunker Hill. It is going to be completely reenacted with live ammunition. Everything will be an exact duplicate of the original battle fought with live ammunition, and of course, there will be casualties. We expect that by being extra careful we can keep casualties to a low level.

The bicentennial comes only every 200 years, and we are going to put forth a special effort in this particular regard. However, we are having some difficulty in getting recruits for the battle. I hesitate to ask for recruits tonight. In delving back through history, we have a little problem of trying to find which side the Ancient and Honorable Artillery Company fought on, in the year 1775. We do not know whether the Company fought on the side of the community or fought on the side of King George.

Originally, the Ancients gave their allegiance to the King of England, but we are not certain whether they did that or gave their allegiance to the Governor of Massachusetts. So you see, we have a problem in figuring out exactly what side they were on.

We are looking forward to the bicentennial celebration and to the participation of this most distinguished group in the activities. I do not know what to say for I have said it before, but it should be repeated, that Boston is deeply grateful to the Ancient and Honorable Artillery Company of Massachusetts for keeping alive, so very much alive, one of the most powerful and historical organizations this country has produced. The Ancients are a Boston institution. Institutions such as this make Boston different from Topeka, Cleveland, or Detroit. It makes Boston a nice place to live in.

I say in conclusion, thank you, Captain Zareiko, for having me present this evening, and I congratulate Captain Marr who will be leading the Ancients during the 200th anniversary celebration of the Revolutionary War, and wish him a successful year of command.

Thank you, very much.

[Applause]

LTC ZAREIKO:

Thank you, Deputy Mayor Sullivan.

Please give your attention to the Adjutant.

LT PEZNOLA:

The Fifth Regular Toast:

ARMED FORCES OF THE UNITED STATES

The strength of might, guided by determination, monitored by integrity and fostered by compassion.

LTC ZAREIKO:

To respond to the Toast to the Armed Forces of the United States, I call on Major General M. G. Roseborough.

MG ROSEBOROUGH:

Fellow Guests, Members of the Company, Friends of the Ancients. We, in the Army, are deeply appreciative of being included in this historical occasion each and every year. We thank you for remembering us.

We are particularly proud to be associated with an organization of this nature, of an organization with so many patriots in its midst. We are also proud to know that you are Soldiers, Sailors, Airmen, Marines, and Coast Guard men, who have never failed their country when called upon. With the help of organizations such as yours, we know that, God willing, you will continue to assist when needed.

Thank you, very much.

[Applause]

LTC ZAREIKO:

Thank you, General Roseborough.

Please give your attention to the Adjutant.

LT PEZNOLA:

I call on Past Commander Ralph J. DeStefano to make a presentation.

CDR DeSTEFANO:

I would like to present to Captain Zareiko the Past Commander's gorget as his badge of having served as Captain Commanding, Ancient and Honorable Artillery Company of Massachusetts.

(LTC Zareiko invested with Past Commander's gorget)

[Applause]

The outgoing Captain Commanding, LTC Joseph S. Zareiko, invested with the Past Commander's gorget, June Day 1974.

LTC ZAREIKO:

It is a pleasure to retire into the classification of Past Commander and simultaneously to rejoin my fellow Ancients in the ranks.

[Long Applause]

LT PEZNOLA:

I call on Major Thomas E. Clegg to make a presentation.

MAJ CLEGG:

In behalf of the alumni of The Massachusetts Military Academy, it gives me pleasure to present to you, Colonel Joseph S. Zareiko, Captain Commanding of the Ancient and Honorable Artillery Company of Massachusetts for the year 1973-74, this certificate of Honorary Membership for your service and assistance to The Massachusetts Military Academy and to the Alumni Association of The Massachusetts Military Academy and also in recognition of your meritorious service and unselfish devotion to the ideals of The Massachusetts Military Academy.

[Applause]

LTC ZAREIKO:

I am honored to be accepted as an Honorary Member of The Massachusetts Military Academy Alumni Association. My thanks to you and to the members of the Alumni Association.

MAJ CLEGG:

Also, Colonel Zareiko, we have for you, sir, another small gift, a jacket with The Massachusetts Military Academy emblem, which you may find useful.

[Applause]

LTC ZAREIKO:

I will wear the jacket with pride. It will be a useful reminder of The Massachusetts Military Academy and what it stands for and also what the Academy means to the Ancient and Honorable Artillery Company of Massachusetts. Thank you, very much.

LT PEZNOLA:

I call on Mr. James Campbell, representing the Town of Dover, Massachusetts, to make a presentation.

MR CAMPBELL:

It is a pleasure and an honor to be with you this evening.

I understand that your Company, the Ancient and Honorable Artillery Company of Massachusetts dates back to 1638 and that it is the oldest military organization in North America. Our Town of Dover dates back only to 1836. Nevertheless, we are delighted to have such a distinguished individual as Captain Zareiko, commanding the Ancient and Honorable Artillery Company of Massachusetts.

It is fitting and proper, that we, as fellow Americans, who have elevated you to such a high position, and as a token of the esteem that we have for you in the Town of Dover, make an expression of this recognition.

It is, therefore, with a great deal of pleasure that I award you a charter membership in the American Federation of Police Association.

[Applause]

LTC ZAREIKO:

Mr. Campbell, please convey my gratitude, for the magnificent presentation, to the Selectmen of Dover and to the Chief of Police, Carl Sheridan. I will place it in an appropriate place in my home and it will always be a constant reminder of the great honor bestowed upon me.

LT PEZNOLA:

The Sixth Regular Toast:

ANCIENT AND HONORABLE ARTILLERY COMPANY
OF MASSACHUSETTS

Democracy in practice, tradition by heritage, dedication unsurpassed.

LTC ZAREIKO:

Please be seated.

Gentlemen, before I call for the response to the Toast to the Ancient and Honorable Artillery Company of Massachusetts, I would like to have all of you join with me in showing our appreciation for the wonderful renditions by John Shea and his men of music.

[Applause]

I would also like to take this opportunity to say a few words.

Distinguished Guests, Members of the Visiting Delegations, Friends, and Fellow Ancients.

It is a genuine pleasure for me to extend a most cordial welcome to everyone here this evening in celebrating the 336th Anniversary of the Ancient and Honorable Artillery Company of Massachusetts, and to thank the officers and members of the variegated parading units with particular emphasis given to The Massachusetts Military Academy, represented by the entire Cadet Corps and Band.

[Applause]

A special tribute of gratitude is expressed to the members of my family, who, through their complete cooperation and personal sacrifice, especially during the times that their understanding was most needed, provided constant support.

Chartered in 1638, fostered by dedicated Ancients, led by 264 Commanders, nurtured by goals with perhaps a touch of serendipity, our Company has withstood all natural and man-made obstacles through the years and today shares its proud heritage with you, our most valued guests and friends.

It seems rather ironical that in spite of the fact that our day-to-day life has become a subject of grave concern to many of us, there is always the constant presence of hope which seems to overshadow the gloom and hopelessness, to produce a balance, to prove the law of averages.

The inflation, compounded by the devaluation of the dollar, has brought about a rise in the cost of food, oil, utilities, and other daily necessities causing the drastic lag in our economy. Many leaders in the political arena, both at home and abroad, have flexed their muscles in a heretofore unprecedented manner bringing about open mistrust in the governments of the world. The various armed conflicts spread around the globe continue to pose an ominous threat of uncertainty, yet, deep down in the stalwart heart of every concerned American, there is the ever-present strength of determination bolstered by unparalleled courage to persevere.

The horizon, although clouded by a heavy, misty fog, is discernible with the knowledge that, sooner or later, a delightfully bright rainbow will appear.

It is an event such as this today that proves what is truly in our hearts and minds. Your being here tonight is the most rewarding tribute in attestation of our goals and principles in our lives. I cannot refrain from admitting, and I believe that many of you feel the same, that when I step off to the beat of a drum, or to the music of a marching band — when I parade with pride in my uniform — when I stand motionless, at attention, and salute the flag of my country with seriousness beyond expression — when my blood seems to burst my circulation system with excitement — when my body tingles throughout, involuntarily, then — do I sense the feeling of how much all this means to me.

[Applause — applause — applause]

[LTC Zareiko, continuing]

Gentlemen, the honor that my fellow Comrades bestowed upon me by electing me to represent them as their Captain for the year 1973-74 is a tribute which will never be forgotten.

The hour has come for another year of fine accomplishments to be recorded in the history of our great Company, and in this final chapter of the 336th Anniversary, may I, once again, express my warmest appreciation to each one of you, that by your presence, you have provided me with a never to be forgotten, living memory.

*[Applause — applause — applause]
[A very long standing ovation]*

[LTC Zareiko, continuing]

I now call on your new Captain, your new Commander, your new leader, to respond to the Toast to the Ancient and Honorable Artillery Company of Massachusetts, Captain Robert L. Marr.

[Applause]

CPT MARR:

Colonel Zareiko, Officers, Distinguished Members of the Head Table, Visiting Friends, Delegations, and my Comrades.

You responded loudly and clearly to the Toast to the Ancient and Honorable Artillery Company of Massachusetts. The Ancients are certainly unique. From its very beginning, formed by its 1638 charter, its members have been from every branch and every field of endeavor. Those members of the past have been leaders of this community. Today, the same is true. Each year, by a complicated process, the members elect a new Captain Commanding. It is my privilege to be so named this year by my Comrades. This entire job is made bearable and easy for me because of the talent that is available to me.

While I cannot produce my entire staff to you, I would like to single out to you those people who will dedicate their lives to continue the proposed and prodigious tasks that are ahead of us this year.

First of all, my First Lieutenant, Lieutenant Commander John F. Cremens.

Secondly, my Second Lieutenant, newly elected, Lieutenant Colonel James A. Lynch, Jr.

Next, I have preferred to have as my Chief of Staff, Past Commander, Captain Edward J. Keelan.

You saw how well the men paraded today; a beautiful sight you must admit; the execution so beautifully done, all due to the next gentleman whom I will introduce, Lieutenant Homer M. Shellenberger, Jr.

Next, Aide to the Captain, whom you should all know, Lieutenant J. Barry Driscoll.

Now, I should like my Sergeants to stand up.

The First Sergeant of Infantry, Sergeant Joseph D. Macquarrie. Incidentally, the Sergeants of our Company are up in the rooms preparing entertainment for our Comrades and visiting delegations. Do not forget to visit them.

Now, the First Sergeant of Artillery, who is similarly engaged, Sergeant Edward J. Anderson.

Now, the Deputy Mayor, Edward Sullivan, talked about Boston and its bicentennial celebration, as well as the reenactment of the Battle of Bunker Hill and he questioned on which side the Ancients fought on in 1775 and just what we were doing, then, but I want to say now what we are going to be doing in 1975. We intend to assume our rightful role in the military leadership in this celebration of 1975. There will be a National Military Banquet on that date. We will host the nation's military in the City of Boston.

[Applause]

I have not mentioned this before, but to those who paraded with us today, the outside marching delegations, you are most welcome to participate in this national military parade; you are most entitled to national recognition for your military heritage. I hereby invite you gentlemen who paraded today to be our guests on that great occasion.

[Applause]

I shall not retain the groups here any longer. I shall let you go about your pleasure except, again, to express my joy and my pleasure of being elected by you as Captain Commanding of the Ancients. We have only one year in this position. We have had 264 Commanders and I shall exert every effort to make my year equal in accomplishment to theirs. I again thank my Comrades for this great honor and to convey to you my promise that I shall continue in the great traditional fashion which has been demonstrated over those many years past, and which you rightfully expect me to do.

Gentlemen, I declare this meeting adjourned.

"When any member of the Company shall have served ten years, and during that time shall have made twenty parades, or as soon after the expiration of ten years as he shall have made twenty parades, he shall be entitled to a Long Service Medal. These parades must have been made in uniform, and no member, no matter what his service, shall be entitled to a Medal if he has not paraded in uniform.

The Medal shall be of silver, oval, seven-eighths inch in length and six-eighths inch in width. Obverse: The arms of the Company, surrounded by military trophies. Reverse: In the center the words, "FOR LONG SERVICE," surrounded by the name of the Company and the date of its charter. The Medal shall be worn suspended from a concealed pin by a heavily ribbed and watered scarlet silk ribbon, six-eighths inch in width, with a pale blue center, seven-sixteenths inch in width, the whole, one inch and five-eighths in displayed length. The miniature Medal shall be worn on the Mess Dress Uniform.

The Medal and Ribbon shall be issued by the Paymaster to any member entitled to the same, upon the presentation and surrender of a certificate of service signed by the Adjutant.

The Medal shall neither be sold nor given away, and no member receive more than one, except in case of loss, in which case he shall file a certificate satisfactory to the Standing Committee, who may by vote direct the Paymaster to issue a duplicate. The member shall be required to pay the actual cost of such Medal.

The Long Service Ribbon shall be worn on the Parade Uniform. The Bar is to be the regulation size Bar for service ribbons issued to members of the Armed Forces of the United States with a star superimposed for each five years of service in excess of the ten years represented by the Bar."

"Upon request, any member of the Company who is a direct descendant of a former member of the Company whose service dated prior to 1738, upon the filing of a sworn statement showing the line of descent, similar to those used by similar historical societies, may become a Member by Right of Descent by vote of the Company at any regular meeting provided notice of such intended action is borne upon the notification for said meeting. The voting procedure shall be in accordance with the provisions of Article I.

Any male citizen of the United States who is a direct descendant of a former member of the Company whose service dated prior to 1738, on application as prescribed in Article I, accompanied by the membership fee prescribed therein, and further accompanied by a sworn statement showing the line of descent, similar to those used by similar historical societies, may, upon compliance with the procedure provided in Article I, become a Member by Right of Descent by vote of the Company. However, compliance with the provisions of Section 2 of Article 1 shall not be required. The voting procedure shall be in accordance with the provisions of Article I.

Such a member shall receive a certificate similar to that issued to an active member of the Company with the words added 'Member By Right of Descent from _____ who was enrolled as a member of the Company on _____.'

"Upon request, any member of the Company who is a commissioned officer of the Armed Forces of the United States or the Commonwealth of Massachusetts on extended active duty for a period in excess of ninety (90) consecutive days may be transferred to the status of an inactive member of the Company by vote of the Standing Committee and shall be exempt from all assessments during such period to the extent provided in Article VII. He shall not be placed on the mailing list for notices excepting for the notice and General Order for the June Anniversary and the Annual Record. He shall not be eligible to vote or to hold office, but may attend meetings of the Company.

The list of Armed Forces Membership shall be exclusive of the active membership list and shall be unlimited. Should such an Armed Forces Member cease to qualify as such under the provisions of Section 1 of this Article, he shall then automatically be placed on the active membership list, subject to all rights, privileges and responsibilities of such membership."
